Deficit Venice School Spending

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Venice Board of Education adopted a deficit budget totaling $2,270,907 for the 1971-72 fiscal year, an increase of $77,519 over that of last year and $27,788 more than the tentative amount proposed last month.

The biggest increase of tentative appropriations was for the building fund budget, up by $23,588 to $344,503, the same as the anticipated revenue for the fund, John Pier, superintendent, said $13,000 would be used for special education quarters.

The educational fund expenditures were raised $3,000 to $1,900,883 to pay overtime salaries, and the municipal retirement fund appropriation was increased by $1,200 to $21,075 to cover the extra contributions for overtime pay.

Remaining unchanged were appropriations for the bond and interest fund, set at $46,702, and for the transportation fund, at $57,733.

Anticipated revenue for the educational fund set at $1,311,981 will cause a deficit of nearly $570,000 in that fund, but plans were announced to borrow from balances in other funds and to sell about $400,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants to meet the deficit.

Taxpayer Agent
Following final adoption, the budget was discussed by William F. Hoelscher, executive director of the Manufacturers Association of the Tri-Cities and secretary-treasurer of the Tri-City Taxpayers Public Expenditures Survey Group.

He noted with satisfaction the small increase in the total appropriation and that the district's deficit had been reduced.

McKinley Bridge Budget Up; Hits $381,875 Total

The Venice City Council Tuesday night approved a 1971-72 McKinley Bridge operating budget of $381,875, an increase of $29,660 over that of the previous year.

A McKinley Bridge replacement and improvement budget of $484,700 also was adopted by the council. The improvement budget is $41,700 higher than last year's appropriation.

The $381,875 budget figure consists of $89,070 salaries for 12 toll collectors, utilities and supplies, representing a $2,828 increase; $32,780 salaries for three maintenance men, equipment and maintenance of the bridge and buildings, a $1,644 increase; $26,000 for painting, and $225,025 for general administrative expenses.

These include $100,000 for insurance, $35,000 in State of Missouri taxes, $32,340 in salaries, $15,000 for Federal social security plus lesser amounts for consulting engineer, annual audit, advertising and bridge office rental.

To Replace Raillings
Major items in the $484,700 replacement and improvement budget was $389,000 for replacement of pipe and lattice tie raillings on the main spans. Also in the budget is $1,800 to replace the asphalt pavement between the tracks at the Venice high line and the Branch street viaduct; $11,400 to seal the asphalt pavement of the Venice approach, the main span, and the St. Louis approach; $5,900 to replace the defective pavement in the western part of the toll plaza; $35,960 to replace the bridge bearings on the deck trusses of the main span; $57,000 to rehabilitate the viaduct carrying eastbound lanes on the Venice approach, and $15,000 for miscellaneous repairs and improvements.

In other council action Patrolmen Jack Fields and Joe Meenan were authorized to attend the Illinois Police Association meeting Sept. 12-14, in Arlington Heights, Ill. The council approved $150 expense allowances for each man.

The McKinley Bridge traffic report for August indicated 236,317 vehicles used the bridge during the month, or an average daily traffic volume of 7,623 vehicles.

'Loaned Executives' New Unit of UF Campaign

"I never realized the agencies offered so many services," was the general response of United Fund "loaned executives" as they toured several member United Fund agencies yesterday in preparation for participation in the 1972 Tri-Cities Area United Fund campaign.

This is the first year area companies have donated executives to the United Fund. Loaned executives will help division leaders and workers needed in the campaign thrust and will see that the story of the United Fund is communicated to the Tri-Cities people.

Committee Named to Seek More Doctors

A five-member "blue ribbon" committee assigned the task of recruiting doctors for the Quad-City area was appointed during a Granite City council meeting Tuesday night by Mayor Donald P. Schuler as chairman, Dr. Felicia Koch, Dr. Robert Ley, Gard Mathias and Burton Bernard.

Mathias is manager of the Illinois Power Co. here and Bernard is a Granite City attorney.

Following confirmation of the appointments by the council, Mayor Partney suggested that Schuler, as chairman, expand the committee "as he sees fit," to conduct a campaign to attract physicians to the Quad-City area.

A shortage of doctors in this area developed this year due to the deaths of several of the area's active physicians, and the fact that several doctors have moved out of the area.

City Fuel Tax Squeeze May Put Johnson Rd. Paving in Jeopardy

A move to suspend engineering work on all Granite City motor fuel tax street improvement projects that are not now at or near construction stage was blocked by the city council Tuesday night amid a series of developments that jeopardize the status of two of the city's high priority projects — the Johnson Road and the Maryville Road improvements.

These developments included:

1. A majority of the council authorized advertisements for bids on three separate motor fuel tax projects totaling $388,511 that will, if contracted, result in a deficit of more than $300,000 in the city's motor fuel tax fund by the end of this year.

2. City Clerk Robert Stevens presented a report showing that the city is now obligated to a total of $662,603 in engineering fees and construction work while the balance in the motor fuel tax fund stood at $487,532 as of Sept. 1.

3. Alderman Sam Whitmer pointed out that since the city's motor fuel tax fund is exhausted, with exception of projected motor fuel tax projects, the city is "throwing money away" to continue the engineering work on a long list of projects "because we won't be able to do the work for a long time."

4. Aldermen of the Sixth and Seventh Wards revealed that all easements for the long-delayed Johnson Road project have been obtained and are now in the city clerk's office. That project has been held up throughout the summer because several residents in the neighborhood of the improvement declined to sign over easements necessary to the project.

The report on the financial status of the motor fuel tax fund was presented by Stevens in response to a request several weeks ago by Alderman Thomas Boker who, at that time, pointed out that the increasing number of motor fuel tax street improvements approved by the council was depleting the fund and that the city soon would be without funds to do any street work.

The report showed that as of Sept. 1, the city owed $71,711 in engineering and construction on five projects already completed this year; $12,650 in engineering fees on three projects in the planning stage (two of which were included in Tuesday night's bid call); $141,842 in engineering and construction on the Buxton Avenue project now under construction, and $258,309 on the Warren Avenue, Palmer Avenue and Michigan Avenue projects for which contracts have been awarded.

In addition, the city clerk's report showed, the city owes $75,000 in engineering fees on 14 separate projects that have been proposed and approved for design work. These projects are in various stages of approval.

Stevens reported that while the city now has $487,532 in the motor fuel tax fund, it will receive an additional $160,000 in state MFT allocations by Dec. 31, bringing available funds this year to $647,532.

Discounting the $562,603 already obligated leaves the city a prospective balance of $84,929 as of Dec. 31, assuming no further expenditures were involved.

Call Street Bids

The council Tuesday night, however, voted to call bids for improvement of Melrose and Oakland Avenues at an estimated cost of $112,494. These projects include improvement of Melrose from Pontoon Road to the city limits, and improvement of Oakland Avenue from Rode Avenue to Braden Avenue.

In a separate action, the council then authorized a bid call for improvement of Benton Street from 27th Street to Fehling Road at an estimated cost of $180,017.

In still other actions, the council overrode an objection by Alderman Walter Norn to reauthorize for bids on plans for asphalt overlays (resurfacing) on five streets. The city advertised for bids on this job several weeks ago, but received only one bid from A. H. Seebold Co. in the amount of $87,200.

Kenneth Kieberger of Research Planning & Design Associates, the city's motor fuel tax engineer, recommended that the Seebold bid not be awarded because it was 33% over the engineer's estimate of cost and it is not likely the state highway division would approve the contract.

Home Rule Tax Dilemma Prompts Chicago Visit

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Adoption of a 1971-72 Granite City tax levy which must be filed with the county clerk not later than next Tuesday—was held up by the city council Tuesday night in a surprise move after council members became aware that the levy, as presented at that time, would more than double next year's tax bills for city purposes.

The problem grew out of Home Rule provisions of the new Illinois State Constitution which, the council was told, eliminates all legislative limitations on tax rates as they were applied in previous years and permits municipalities qualifying as "home rule" cities to levy taxes without limit for virtually any purpose.

Council action on the tax levy bill which called for extension of $3,675,981—the full amount of the city's 1971-72 appropriation—was delayed voluntarily by Alderman Thomas Boker, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, who said that he had learned only a short time before Tuesday night's council meeting that the levy bill had been prepared in such manner that it raised a "great question" as to whether or not it was in line with the city's tax needs for the 1971-72 fiscal year which began last May 1.

Because of uncertainty over the home rule provisions of the constitution affecting new tax levies, the council authorized City Attorney Leon Scroggins and Boker to fly to Chicago Friday to meet with attorneys of the Illinois Municipal League who are versed in the home rule phase of the new state constitution. The council voted a combined $150 expense account for the two officials.

Recessed Meeting Monday

Scroggins and Boker are to return to Granite City Friday night, meet during the weekend with the Finance Committee and develop a new tax levy bill to be submitted to the council in a recessed meeting Monday night. Under its regular schedule, the council ordinarily would not meet Monday. Unless the levy is filed not later than Tuesday, however, the county clerk would be unable legally to extend taxes for Granite City this year.

The tax levy bill in the amount of the $3,675,981 appropriation was prepared for presentation in the Tuesday meeting, but it was understood that Mayor Donald Partney pointed out to Boker prior to the meeting that the levy could not be adopted in that form because of the new constitutional provisions. At one point during the council session, Partney told the council that "if you pass this tax levy bill, we had better all get out of town—it will more than double the city's tax bill to every resident."

Scroggins admitted to council members that he was not versed in the home rule provisions and that he planned to fly to Chicago to obtain more detailed information Friday night. Boker, as chairman of the Finance Committee, suggested that he accompany Scroggins.

Actually, the problem grows not as much out of the home rule problem as it does from the city's past practice of accepting a tax levy bill that is drawn in amounts identical to those set up in the annual budget. The city, as do most tax districts, receives its funds

City Council Thaws Freeze on Wage Hike

The freeze on salary hikes granted Granite City employees in early August was thawed by the city council Tuesday night after Mayor Donald Partney told the aldermen that he would sign the higher salary checks and that the higher wages should be paid.

As a result, the council approved payment of $27,874 in retroactive pay due city employees for the months of May, June, July and August. In addition they approved a regular payroll for the first half of September that included the salary raises. Virtually all of the increases amounted to $50 per month.

Payment of the increased salaries was held up last month following an announcement of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, until information could be obtained as to how the government freeze would affect the city salary raises. City Attorney Leon Scroggins met a week ago with officials of the Office of Emergency Preparedness in Kansas City, Mo.

Scroggins told the council Tuesday night that he was awaiting a written response from that office on the question of Granite City salary raises. Mayor Partney, however, ordering the raises be allowed.

"Since I signed the bill for the higher salaries on Aug. 11, I'm certain the raises can be allowed," the mayor said, "if not, I'm in trouble."

Shooting on Parking Lot Last Night

John Vasiloff, 18, of 2050 Thirtieth St., was shot in the right side of the chest at 12:35 a.m. today on the Kroger Store parking lot at the Nameoki Village shopping center, where a gang of youths congregated.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted. The hospital reported his condition as fair today.

Police said that most of the youths were close-mouthed about the shooting but they were able to determine that Vasiloff arrived at the lot in an auto with another person and that someone yelled at him.

When Vasiloff stopped and left the car, he was struck in the face by the person who had shouted at him. At the same time he was shot, police said. The bullet went through the body and the slug was not immediately found.

The assailant with the gun fled, and police are investigating. Two persons at the scene were arrested and booked about two hours later for questioning.

Beer cans and bottles were strewn around the area, the scene of a recent incident in which a teenage girl was cut in the chest.

Victim's Condition Poor

Elmer A. Dehn, 3214 Colgate Ave., is listed in poor condition today at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Belleville, where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a two-car collision at 12:45 p.m. Sunday. He was listed as critical when admitted to the hospital following the accident, which claimed the life of his 9-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Dehn.

Madison Youth Fined After Disturbance

Russell "Corky" Hughes, 18, of 13 Garesche Homes, Madison, was assessed $70 in fines and court costs yesterday in magistrate court where he was arraigned by Madison police on charges of property destruction and disobeying a police officer.

Hughes was arrested at 9:25 p.m. Tuesday at his home where police were summoned by Mrs. Mary Hughes, the youth's mother. Police said five windows in the residence had been broken and that Hughes was cut on the right arm and hand.

Hughes was tried at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was booked on three charges, one of which was to be dismissed after he was fined $25 and $5 cost on the property destruction charge and $30 and $10 cost on the charge of disobeying a police officer.

Ditty Bags Needed for GIs In Vietnam; Gifts Listed

Local organizations and individuals preparing "Ditty Bags" for delivery to servicemen in Vietnam this Christmas are reminded by the Tri-City Red Cross office that a Sept. 18 deadline has been set for returning the small gift bags to the local chapter.

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, Red Cross executive, said today, "We would appreciate anyone bringing the ditty bags in as early as possible, in order to pack and get them ready for shipping to Vietnam." All gift bags must be assembled and shipped to Southeast Asia prior to Sept. 30.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter is taking part in the Christmas gift program which provides hundreds of thousands of filled ditty bags to the servicemen overseas.

Although the total number of bags needed this year is reduced somewhat, due to the cut-back of troops in Vietnam, assistance in making and filling the red and green gift sacks still is being sought from area church, social and service clubs and individuals.

Not Too Late

Specifications and instructions for making the small bags may be acquired from the Red Cross office, 1411 Twenty-first St., or by calling 452-7484. It is not too late to take part in the project, Mrs. Overbeck said.

Each ditty bag should include at least eight small items with some variety. Several could be wrapped in colorful paper and the Red Cross is recommending that one worthwhile gift be made available to every serviceman.

The larger gift might be a pocketknife, wallet, flashlight, pen and pencil set, stippo lighter or similar item, Mrs. Overbeck said.

Gifts to Fill Bags

Among the items most requested by the servicemen are ball-point pens; pen-sized flashlights with batteries; windproof-type cigarette lighters with accompanying pack of lighter fluid; plastic soap case with bar of soap; small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes; small address book.

Plastic toothbrush holder and toothbrush; terry cloth washcloth (other than white or red); nail clippers; combs; mailing, size voice tapes (reels of 3-inch tapes, 150-inch length).

Small tins of nuts or nonmelting candies, vacuum packed; small plastic snapshott holders; small kitchen size and sandwich-type plastic bags (not waxed paper); "wipe and shine" packet shoe polish; pocket games — playing cards, chess, pinocle, etc. (small enough to fit in pocket or plastic bags).

Pocket or diary-type calendars; "Wash and dries" pre-moistened towelettes; adhesive bandages (about 1 1/2 inches); "C" batteries (long-life types) for transistor radio; white cotton socks; soap holders (suction type); and stainless steel mirrors.

Items which packers should not send in the bags include gifts in breakable containers; food packages in nonvacuum containers; medicaments, including foot powder and insect repellent; reading and printed or advertising materials (Red Cross staff in Vietnam advise there is an ample supply of paperback books available); alcoholic beverages; sports equipment, such as softballs; religious materials and children's toys.

Persons or groups assisting in the annual Christmas gift project who have not obtained a label to be sewn inside the little canvas bags are asked to contact the Red Cross office. The label, stating "Red Cross—Not to be Sold," Mrs. Overbeck explained, is sewn into each bag prohibiting their sale to the men overseas.

Each organization may endorse its own Christmas greeting card as a personal touch, the executive pointed out, noting that many local residents heard from servicemen who received the ditty bags in previous years.

Wittevrongel Appointed As State Consultant

M. A. Wittevrongel, administrative assistant-vocational and adult education for the Granite City school district, was named this week a special consultant to the State of Illinois in evaluation of vocational programs in other schools.

The Board of Education approved the appointment and sent a letter of congratulations to the administrator, terming the appointment a great honor. State officials said Wittevrongel would be needed on three occasions this year. He will continue to serve in his present post here.

In other business, the board extended the leave of absence of Clarice Campbell, a second grade teacher at Logan School, to the beginning of the second semester. The hiring of two new teachers was approved.

Roy L. Logan Jr., 81 Riviera Drive, will teach sixth grade at Mitchell School and Harold D. Boren, Hartford, will teach social studies at the high school. Both have bachelor of science degrees, Logan from Bradley University and Boren from Southern Illinois University-Southern campus.

The board voted to create a class 3 secretarial position to assist Raymond T. Jones, administrative assistant-personnel. Jones stated with the growth of the district, one secretary was no longer sufficient to handle the work load in the personnel department. The position will be filled at a later date. The secretarial post will be a union position.

Buy Projector

A recommended 16 mm. film projector was purchased for $225 at the request of Gordon L. Gubrecht, audio-visual director. The used projector was purchased for about $100 less than a new projector and is covered by a one year guarantee.

The Baldwin Piano & Organ Co. was awarded the bid for tuning the 50 to 60 pianos in the district this year at a cost of $9.45 each. The tuning bid was accepted over a bid from Ludwig Music House Inc. of $18 to tune each piano.

The board approved the filing of an application for partial reimbursement for the cost of crossing guards at Maryville and Mitchell schools under the National Highway Safety Act. If the application is approved, up to 50% of the cost of the guards would be reimbursed.

The program may be extended for two years if subsidized.

quency grant applications are approved. The applications are submitted to the chairman of the Board of County Supervisors for approval.

A bill for $296 from Flaxbeard Refrigeration was ordered paid for the installation of special fan motors in the heating and cooling systems at Maryville, Emerson and Logan Schools.

Pay Extra Cost

An additional bill for $201 was ordered paid to Amco Plumbing & Heating for a pressure release safety valve for one of the high pressure boilers at the high school. The valve replaces one found to be malfunctioning during testing of all school heating plants this summer.

Taxicab transportation was approved for two special education students not on regular bus service routes.

A program to distribute 10% discount cards for A. Tessler & Son's Inc. to home economics students for supplies and materials was approved for the second year.

Two season tickets to the Illinois Manufacturers Association dinner series were purchased by the board at $38 each. One ticket is used annually by Wittevrongel and the other is used by any board member or administrator that wishes to attend a particular presentation.

Detering, physical education instructor at the high school, to attend a basketball clinic at Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 22 to 25, and for James Dumont, principal of Coolidge Junior High School and at least one other building administrator to attend the Minnesota School Facilities Council, sixth annual symposium on individualized education, from Sept. 29 to Oct. 1 at Minneapolis, Minn.

Bills ordered paid included: educational fund $40,000; joint agreement fund $300; building fund $19,419 and new construction fund $2,394,182, and cafeteria disbursements $29,301.

Public Invited to Hear 'War of Bands' Sunday

The annual music marathon sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees for area youth groups will take on a new sound this year when the "War of the Bands" contest opens at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Wilson Park Rink pavilion. The event is open to the public.

Mixed with the vibrant beat of rock music which has dominated the contest the past four years will be the more muted strains of folk music—a style that has become increasingly popular with youth in recent times.

Competition will be divided into two separate segments with rock or pop groups competing in one division and folk groups in a different category. John Fornasewski and Earl Warnhoff, Jaycee project chairmen, explained. Four groups have registered, so far, to compete in each of the two divisions.

Leading off Sunday's program will be the folk entries, including "The Virtue"; "Brewer, Spence and Stevens"; "Corrier" and John Robert Markarian, a solo folk artist.

Rock groups scheduled to perform are "Soapstone Melodians"; "Vindicta"; "Winthrop"; and the 1970 winning group, "J. Christopher Blues." A $100 first-place prize is being offered to the winning rock group, with a $50 award going to the second-place band. Folk groups will be competing for $20 and $25, first and second prizes, respectively.

Free coupons still are available at area stores and schools which entitle the bearer to a 25-cent discount from the $1.50 admission ticket. Fornasewski said. Tickets, costing the full price, will be available at the door immediately before the contest starts at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Patrons may dance to the music played by the contestants, the Jaycee chairman said.

MORE ABOUT Home Rule

from taxes and from other money. In the city's instance, those other sources include state allocations of income tax, sales tax, the sale of business licenses, inspection fees and other types of revenue such as parking meter fees, fines in police cases and others.

Attorneys for virtually all other area municipalities prepare tax levies providing tax extensions in amounts making up difference between the total amount of the budget and the amount of revenue anticipated from sources other than taxation.

$1.5 Million Tax
Granite City customarily levies about $1.5 million in taxes, while the balance of its expenditures are financed with funds from other sources.

Therefore, a tax levy in the full amount of the budget more than doubles the amount of tax money required because more than half of the city's income is received from these "other sources."

The levy based on this principal in past years was controlled by legislative tax rate limitations which were applied by the county clerk's office in its tax extension, therefore restricting the amount of taxes to be collected within the rate structure.

If the home rule provisions of the new constitution removes the rate limits — as Scroggins told the council he is certain that it does — then the county clerk could extend for collection the full amount of the levy without application of any limits at all.

In other words, Granite City residents would be billed—had Tuesday night's tax levy bill been passed—for $3,675,000 next summer, rather than the approximate $1,500,000 extended in city taxes in previous years.

Delay in approval of the tax levy Tuesday night puts the city on a hand-pressed time schedule. State law requires filing with the county clerk of all municipal tax levies not later than the second Tuesday of September, which is next Tuesday, Sept. 14. Failure to meet that deadline would mean that the city would have no tax income for the 1971-72 tax year.

Crawley emphasized, "We are not beggars. We are selling the best product the community has. The advantage of the United Fund is that agencies have been created so that every member agency in the Tri-Cities serves the needs of the people. In this way people's contributions are not misused."

Speaking of the loaned executives, Tri-Cities United Fund campaign chairman Lytle Guley said, "We certainly appreciate these companies and men for offering their services to us. They are a tremendous help in making this campaign a success."

In addition, the council approved, in separate resolutions, initial appropriations of $10,000 each for improvement of Dewey Avenue, Amos Avenue and Manley Avenue.

These council actions brought to $395,311 the amount of motor fuel tax funds needed to finance the jobs, or $303,583 in excess of the amount of MFT money that will be available for the remainder of this year.

Mayor Donald Partney said after the meeting that the jobs for which bids were called Tuesday night are contracted, the improvement of Johnson Road would be delayed indefinitely because "there will be no money to pay for it." Cost of the Johnson Road project is estimated at $300,000.

The city also would be unable to meet its commitment of $226,000 for the city's share of the Maryville Road extension which is planned by Madison County highway officials and which will cost a total of $2 million. The county is to provide $1.5 million on this project.

Alderman Whitmer said he could see no reason for continuous planning of future projects and expenditure of engineering fees when there is no immediate prospect of doing the work.

Can't Use Plans
"All we are doing is paying the engineer to make the plans, which can't be used because we will be out of money," Whitmer said. His remarks came after Kleberger had recommended to the council that it not authorize the bid call on the Benton Street project because the MFT fund will be "out of money."

Whitmer moved that the city instruct Kleberger to suspend all engineering work on all pending projects that are not ready for construction.

Alderman Thomas Boker, commenting on Whitmer's motion, told the council that "as I see it, we stand committed to about $1 million, with Johnson Road and the Maryville Road project. We passed a resolution committing the Maryville Road money and we must have it."

He remarked to Kleberger that "I think you have taken us down the primrose path and we have sat here and done nothing about it. It is time we let up."

Alderman Gerald Partney asked: "What has happened to Johnson Road. The easements are all cleared for the project and are in the city clerk's office. But nothing is being done. What has happened to this job?"

On a vote to suspend engineering work, the council defeated the motion 6 to 5.

OK Zoning Request

The Granite City Board of Zoning Appeals approved today a request from Mrs. Rose M. Doll to construct a house on a corner lot at 2770 Iowa St., 11 feet from the property line. The lot is under P-3 residential zoning which requires homes to be 25 feet from the property line unless otherwise permitted by the board of appeals.

from $600,000 last year to $500,000 now.

However, he said he foresaw little hope in the ability of local school districts to solve their financial dilemmas.

If we shift economy in the Tri-City area staying stock still for several years," he told the board. "Industries will have to improve their methods to survive the economic crunch."

Loss of Industry
Hoelscher pointed to the loss of industry in this year and the fact that it has been without new industry since 1954, and to loss in employment which he said was 22,900 in 1962 and dropped to less than 15,000 last year.

He reminded the board that higher tax rates would continue to discourage new industry from locating here. "I see no indication of any solution for you," he said. "I don't know if merger (with other school districts) or cutting back your program is the answer."

Hoelscher asked the board to consider all other alternatives to going into debt.

Teacher Pay Raise
He also suggested that the board delay a pay raise for teachers during President Nixon's wage freeze.

But Leo Davylin, board president, argued against the delay "until there is a definite decision." He noted the contrasting opinions on salary increases under the freeze, and added that "if we are wrong in the immediate prospect of doing the work."

Nine Students
The class, to be part of the special education region I district program, will have nine students, according to Robert Vickers, assistant superintendent.

The board also employed Miss Virginia Pace, 1239 Klein St., Venice, as a business education teacher at the Lincoln Technical Training Center. She is a former Venice High School teacher.

The board approved purchase of nine nurse's watches from Hudson Jewelry Store on a low bid of $107.55, to be reimbursed through a federal government fund, for use at the Lincoln Center, and approved a service policy photo copy equipment with the Apco Co. at the rate of $100 per year.

Air Filtration At All American Steel Foundries

American Steel Foundries, an operating unit of Amsted Industries, has completed a quarter of a million dollar air pollution control system at its East Chicago, Ind., steel foundry.

Carl O. Sundberg, ASF president, reported the company has installed two bag house-type dust collectors which will clean the air discharged from the plant's two 10-ton capacity electric furnaces.

"The bag house units should remove more than 99% of the dust and particulate matter generated by the furnaces," Sundberg said.

"Although our plant was a minor factor in the overall air pollution problem of the East Chicago area, as a concerned corporate citizen we decided to curtail any pollution for which we were responsible."

$4,000 Feet Per Minute
At the East Chicago plant, the new bag-house system will clean approximately 54,000 cubic feet of air per minute, according to Richard L. Jones, works manager.

Large suction blowers draw off air discharged from the foundry's electric furnaces and move it through steel ducts into the filtration system. Each furnace is connected to a separate bag house unit.

The two bag houses are actually identical steel buildings, each one measuring 28 feet long, 10 feet wide and 15 feet high. In each building, the air is filtered through 624 large bags. The dust is collected in hoppers and conveyed to closed containers for pollution-free disposal.

Ross Roberts caught the 16 pound, seven ounce rainbow in Lake Michigan on July 25. The record breaker was taken on a Herring Dodger and fly. The length of the record breaker was 30 inches and it had a girth of 22 1/2 inches.

The new record breaks the year-old record of 14 pounds, 15 ounces set by Charles Brady of Waukegan.

The Illinois Record Fish Contest is sponsored each year by the Fisheries Division of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Park of the Week
In adding Apple River Canyon to its system of parks and memorials in 1932, the State of Illinois made available to its people a park which encompasses a small space of 157 acres, a wide variety of interesting features. Limestone bluffs, deep ravines, springs, streams and wildlife characterize this area which was once part of a vast sea bottom that stretched from the Alleghenies to the Rockies.

Apple River Canyon State Park is located in the northwest section of Illinois near the Wisconsin border in Jo Daviess County and lies north of U. S. 20 and west of State Route 78. It is tucked in an area that boasts the highest elevation in the state.

Flowing endlessly for countless centuries, the Apple River has cut through the masses of limestone, dolomite and shale until massive cliffs now rise high above the water, and wonderful canyons have formed from which the name of the park derives. Vast ages of water and erosion widened and deepened the crevices as rivers and streams cut their way through the stone.

From atop the Apple River bluffs may be seen Charles Mound which is 1,241 feet above sea level and the highest point in Illinois. The bluffs also command an excellent view of the deep deciduous forests which include some juniper and an occasional white pine.

Visitors will find marked trails through the canyons and picturesque sections of the park, a picnic area at the site of an old mill, refreshment stand, convenient shelters, camp ground, and a large parking area. The Apple River, itself, is a clean stream and well stocked with crappies, smallmouth bass, sunfish, carp, northern pike, walleye, sauger, yellow perch and suckers.

Governor Election to Pit Together Tough Fiscal Manager, Hard Worker and Idealist

Copley News Service

Springfield — Candidates for the governor's post in Illinois always try to project an image to the voters.

Present Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in the 1968 gubernatorial sweepstakes projected an image of being a "crime buster." He pegged this on the work he did as Cook County sheriff and president of the Cook County Board. This projection undoubtedly paid off in some sections of Illinois.

In next year's election race, Ogilvie will undoubtedly try to project an image of a tough fiscal manager.

It is no secret that his fiscal policies have been somewhat tight. In fact, when he first started tightening the fiscal reins on mental health spending, it caused some problems — as is now apparent with public aid.

Li. Gov. Paul Simon, a Democrat, who is very much interested in the governor's post next year, is also projecting an image. He tries to project a picture of being a hard worker and an above-board politician.

Simon and his entire office staff every year make public their year's income. This has been a first for a statewide official. Simon always made public his income while he was serving in the legislature.

Another man interested in getting the Democratic nomination for governor is Daniel Walker, who is currently walking from Cairo to Chicago. He has been trying to project an image of a person running for an ideal.

Walker also appeared to be trying to upset the party bosses in his bid for the office.

Thomas Foran, former U. S. District Attorney who was the prosecutor in the now famous Chicago Seven conspiracy trial, also interested in running for the Democratic nomination for governor, has projected himself as a law and order man.

Auditor Michael J. Howlett, also seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nod, is not wasting any time; he is busily trying to project an image.

As a matter of fact, his fiscal efficiency for the past 11 years in the post of auditor is known throughout the state. A testament to this is the fact that in 1968, Howlett ran very well in normally Republican areas of the state.

Howlett also maintains that it was at his insistence in 1966, when he first ran for auditor, that newspapers checked the spending habits of then Auditor Orville Hodge.

So it appears that Howlett has taken off the gloves on two fronts when it comes to image building — fiscal efficiency and governmental integrity. Howlett isn't wasting any time in getting this word out, either.

Howlett also maintains that it was at his insistence in 1966, when he first ran for auditor, that newspapers checked the spending habits of then Auditor Orville Hodge.

More State Civil Service Employee Posts Suggested

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — The Governor's Committee on Voluntary Action is drafting a series of career grades for volunteer coordinators in state departments, which would make the coordinators civil service employees.

Mrs. Josephine K. Obinger, executive director of the committee, said the proposals should be ready for presentation to the Civil Service Commission by either the Sept. 16 or Oct. 1 meetings.

Salaries under the schedule would range from $705 monthly for a grade 13 employee, who would be a trainee working under experienced coordinators, to $1,198 for a grade 21 state-wide coordinator. Between would be two advancing grades, and a special class for a Chicago program coordinator.

Until recently, there were only two full-time volunteer coordinators in state departments.

One of the aims of the governor's committee, Mrs. Obinger said, has been to encourage state departments to establish such posts, and then bring them together for statewide interdepartmental meshing of numerous volunteer programs.

Presently, 13 departments have coordinators attending monthly meetings with her staff, Mrs. Obinger said, though in many cases the coordinator also has other duties, and spends only about 10% of his time on actual volunteer programs.

To further upgrade activities among volunteers and those working with them, the committee has asked the attorney general for an opinion on ways in which volunteers using either state cars or their own transportation, on volunteer projects, can be covered by state auto insurance, and on methods of obtaining reimbursement for expenses incurred in the volunteer program.

"For instance," said Mrs. Obinger, "if a volunteer is driving a child to a hospital somewhere, and must provide lunch along the way, can the volunteer be reimbursed?"

Presently, each department has its own policy, she said, with some paying for gasoline and other incidentals out of a petty cash type of fund, while others issue chits good for lunch to the volunteer, and still others provide nothing at all.

The committee which Mrs. Obinger heads was formed a little over a year ago with an initial budget of $17,000. Its goal is to establish and coordinate a statewide program which would let prospective volunteers know what programs are in need of their services, and to let various groups know what volunteer services are available in their particular areas.

Kenneth Smith, 68, Dies; Ill 11 Months

Kenneth Smith, 68, of 3227 Maryville Road, a retired bartender, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:10 p.m. Tuesday. He had been ill 11 months.

Born in Mohr, Mo., he had resided in Alton 20 years, moving to Granite City three and a half years ago.

Mr. Smith retired in 1968 from the Eagles Club in Alton where he had been employed as a bartender for 20 years.

He was a member of the Eagles Club and Moose Lodge of Wood River.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lucille Smith; one son, Billy Joe Smith of Granite City; a brother Bill Smith of Coldwater, Mich.; his mother, Mrs. Victoria Moberty of Colorado Springs, Colo. and three grandchildren, Paula, Paul and Pamela Smith, all of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Eagleaires Elect New Leader, Plan Events

Mrs. Angie Buehler was elected as the new leader of the Eagleaires Band at a special reorganization meeting Tuesday night. Mrs. Nancy Mullen, auxiliary president, presided at the session.

Efforts to secure a piano player who would be interested in working with the band and acquiring a singer to appear with the band on a full-time basis were discussed.

Regular practice sessions and meetings on alternate Tuesday nights are planned in conjunction with the auxiliary meetings.

Mrs. Bernice Johannigmer was appointed to contact all members of the Eagles organization to form an engagement calendar.

Members participating in the discussions were Mesdames Angie Buehler, Florence Hagauer, Ellen Rickert, Florida Batson, Cora Barr, Mildred Achors, Bernice Johannigmer, Janet Hagauer, Ann Konopka, Dee Klesh and Vina Law.

Mrs. Mullen announced the driving a child to a hospital somewhere, and must provide lunch along the way, can the volunteer be reimbursed?

Daredevils Auto Thrill Show At Tri-City Speedway Sept. 19

The world famous King Kovaz Auto Daredevils will perform at the Tri-City Speedway at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19, as part of a tour of the United States and Canada.

The one hour and 45 minute program has thrilled fans throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, Europe, performing for 25 years in twenty fairs and exhibitions to capacity audiences.

The "King" Kovaz, put away his crash helmet after a serious injury to become the top clown in the daredevil profession and now has put the grease paint and bunny pants into a box to be used only in an emergency. If a stunt man or clown is injured, he takes over until a replacement arrives; meanwhile he is the dynamo who drives the back stage machinery of the daredevils.

Kovaz makes Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., his home during the off season, with his wife and two daughters and has the stunt men working on new and more

Cougar Harriers To Open

Southern Illinois University-Southern's cross country team will open its 1971 season Saturday by hosting the strong Lincoln University team of Jefferson City, Mo., at the Cougars' home course at Edwardsville. Starting time is 11 a.m.

Coached by John Flamer, who inaugurated the sport at SIU-SW four years ago, the Cougar harriers are given a good chance to improve on their impressive 14-3 record of last season. In three seasons, Flamer's runners have built a 25-11 record. Flamer was an outstanding distance runner at SIU-Carbondale in his undergraduate days.

Back on the 1971 cross country team is Rich Truger, Gary, Ind., who was voted the squad's most valuable runner last year. Also on the team are: Capt. Bill Hanks, Bunker Hill; Tom Terrill, Springfield; Ralph Throne, St. Louis; Bob Weyer, Chicago, Ind.; and Willie Chambers, Cahokia.

GC Runners on Squad

A freshman, Gene Briggs of Granite City, should help, as should Mike Allgood and Ken Elft, Granite City, Ken Harper and William Sanders, Chicago.

A junior college transfer, Carl Mason, Chicago, one of the nation's top five junior college cross country runners, is expected to help the Cougars run up for the loss of graduated veterans Gerry Hull, Dan Burris and Jim Laughlin.

As has happened in all seven varsity sports at SIU-SW, Coach Flamer has improved the caliber of his schedule, adding strong foes such as Notre Dame, Bradley University and Westminster College.

Season Schedule

SIU-SW cross country schedule: Sept. 11, 11 a.m.—Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. (3 miles); Sept. 17, 4 p.m.—Washington University, St. Louis (4 miles); Sept. 25, 11 a.m.—University of Missouri at Rolla, Rolla, Mo. (5 miles); Sept. 29, 4 p.m.—Greenville College, Greenville, S.C. (5 miles); Oct. 12, 4 p.m.—Florissant Valley—Westminster College, Edwardsville, (4 miles); Oct. 18 open; Oct. 20, 4 p.m.—University of Decatur, Decatur, (4 miles); Oct. 23, 11 a.m.—Bradley University, Peoria, (4 miles); Oct. 27, 3 p.m.—Murray State, Murray, Ky. (5 miles); Oct. 30, 11 a.m.—Illinois State—Champaign, (5 miles); Oct. 31, 11 a.m.—University of Missouri at St. Louis—University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, Vincennes; Indiana College—Edwardsville, (5 miles); Nov. 13, 11 a.m.—NCAA finals—Wheaton, Ill.

'Y' Swim Team Tryouts Set

Tryouts for the YMCA swimming teams for boys and girls between the ages of six and 17 will be held at 6 p.m. today.

Boys and girls need not be members of the "Y" to try out for the team. However, those who make the swim team will be required to join. The swimmers will be divided into the following age classification: 8 and under, 9 & 10, 11 & 12, 13 & 14 and 15 through 17. The swimmers will compete in YMCA dual meets, district and state "Y" meets and AAU meets.

Jeff Spector will coach the swimmers. He has been on the University High swim team and the Florissant Valley Junior College team.

Persons wishing further information may contact Kent Dunn or Spector at the YMCA.

Strong Cougar Soccer Squad Set for Season

The strong soccer team from Southern Illinois University-Southern, after two tough weeks of drills, is nearly ready to open its 1971 season Saturday against Ottawa University in Kansas. Extensive drills, some two a day, will continue this week.

The Cougar Kickers of Coach Bob Guelker face a grueling 10-game regular schedule, including Ottawa University, which is one of the nation's strong small college soccer powers. In addition, SIU-SW will take part in a four-team tournament of Eastern soccer powers, with Hartwick College hosting the Cougars, Dartmouth and the U. S. Naval Academy the weekend of Sept. 18-19.

Guelker's squad is loaded with talent, headed by scoring leader John Carena, who is entering his senior year after a summer spent playing with the United States Olympic and Pan-Am squads. Big John led U. S. scorers, with eight goals in the 15 games the Yankee kickers played south of the border this summer.

Carena's kid brother, Chris, came on strong to rack up 13 points to John's 22 in the Cougars' 9-3 1970 season. Tommie Howe, co-captain with John Carena and also a senior, was last year's fourth best scorer for SIU-SW. With John Deino, Guelker could give the Cougars a devastating attack. Stubby-built Tom Galati, a sophomore from St. Louis' McBride High, could also help both on the offense and defense.

At the links, one combination could be Twellman and Tim Putnam. The fullbacks and the defense, generally, are very strong with Rick Benben in goal, backed up by Vince Fassi, Dennis Driscoll, Kevin Howe and Joe Galvin, plus Galati.

Guelker's problem of finding a player to take Jack Blake's outside right position won't be least, as the defending national NCAA champ, St. Louis University. The Bills have beaten the Cougars three straight, including the 2-1 victory in the NCAA Mid-East Regional tournament final last season.

The schedule: Sept. 11—at Ottawa U.; 18-19 at Hartwick College; Oct. 2—Rockhurst College here; 9—U. of Illinois, Chicago Circle here; 16—at University of Missouri, St. Louis; 23—at Quincy (Ill.) College; 28—Jacksonville U. (Fla.) here; Oct. 30—University of Wisconsin, Parkside (Kenosha) here. Nov. 6—at St. Louis University, Musial Field, St. Louis; 13—University of South Florida, Tampa, here.

SIU-SW SOCCER COACH AND CO-CAPTAINS

FOR 1971—Bob Guelker, veteran coach of the nationally ranked Southern Illinois University-Southern soccer team talks about ball control with his 1971 team co-captains, Tommie Howe, center, and John Carena. Both are seniors and have played four seasons of varsity competition for the Cougar Kickers. SIU-SW opens its season Sept. 11 on the road against Ottawa University, outside of Kansas City, Kan. The following weekend, the Cougars will travel to Oneonta, New York, to take part in a pre-season four-team tournament hosted by nationally-ranked Hartwick College. Dartmouth and Navy are the other two ranked teams entered. SIU-SW opens its home season Sept. 25 hosting always strong Akron (Ohio) University. The 6'4" Carena, a member of the United States Olympic and Pan-Am teams, holds all SIU-SW soccer scoring records.

Barnes Appointed Tennis Pro

Mike Barnes, Granite City, has been named manager and teaching pro at the St. Clair Indoor Tennis Club in O'Fallon, it was announced by D. T. "Tom" Moffitt, owner and of the three-court facility.

Barnes, 27, who played his college tennis for Murray State University, Ky., and Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be aided by his wife, the former Nancy Sherman, also of Granite City and a top-ranked junior player in the St. Louis District.

The club has three indoor courts and two new outdoor courts.

A former artillery officer in the Army, Barnes served in Korea for 13 months, where he won the All-Service tennis singles championship. Returning to the States, he was assigned to Fort Knox, Ky., until he left the service in 1969. During his tour at Fort Knox, he shared in the national doubles championship of the All-Service tournament held at Baltimore.

Barnes announced that memberships for the coming year are being accepted and information may be obtained by calling 233-8854 or 233-9146, both at O'Fallon, or 877-5632, Granite City. The club is open from 9 a.m. through 10 p.m. daily. Showers and lockers are also available to players.

Rozycki Realty Wins Labor Day Tourney Crown

The Rozycki Realty softball team added the Granite City Park District's Labor Day Tournament crown to its list of laurels Tuesday night by defeating Mercer 18-8.

In earlier achievements, the team won its league championship and the Rufus Ketter Memorial of July Tournament, the Granite City regional tournament and the Rufus Ketter Tournament, compiling an undefeated record.

Champ Summers led the Tuesday with three home runs and Charlie Stephens added another in the Mercer triumph.

Merced took a 4-2 first-inning lead which lasted until the fifth frame when Rozycki bats took their toll, accounting for five runs in the fifth frame and six in the sixth as the team totaled 24 hits.

Merced advanced to the title game earlier in the evening by defeating Mexican Highway 11-1. Charlie Wolfe homered as the winners racked 16 hits. Sonny Antoff was the winning pitcher.

Stock Cars to Run in Jubilee Race Friday

Between 50 and 75 top mid-west late model stock car drivers will compete in the $3,000 Diamond Jubilee stock race to tomorrow night at the Tri-City Speedway.

The night is reserved for the late models only and super sprint drivers who attend will be forced to sit in the pits and watch as the late models qualify for and compete in the 75-lap feature event on the half-mile clay oval.

Among the drivers entered are: Wib Spalding of Ponton Beach, the track point leader, Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights, Bobby Stanton of East Alton, Don Carter of Hillsboro, Ill., Nick Jansen of Alton and Cletus Blackwell of Hillsberry, Mo.

Qualifications will start at 7 p.m. with racing slated for 8:30 p.m.

Howie Bryant set a new course record for the Warriors, covering the 2.8 mile, plus 200 feet course in 16.02.

In the Triad meet Warrior Mike Adams finished second, Bruce Barger, eighth, Mark Ortiz, 11th and Pat Olson 12th.

Other Warriors out for Cross-Country this season are: Tim Sheridan, Rich Panchard, Mark Loftus, Charles Mayfield, Mike Menender, Bob Pritchard, Tim Schmidt, Tom Stephens, Tim Turner, Chris Lewis, Harry Miller and Jeff Schleicher.

Bryant, Ortiz and Tom Bull are the returning lettermen. Triad won the junior varsity meet 43-20. Paul Brewer took first however, for the Warriors, running the course in 18:26. Other ers running in the meet for JV were Rich Chandler, Dale Livingston, Bill Grady and Dan Tegel.

Coach Dick Harmon's Warriors will host O'Fallon at 4 p.m. today, Wood River at 4 p.m. Tuesday and Belleville West at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Fur Bearing Animal Season Dates Listed

Trapping and hunting season dates and regulations for fur bearing animals have been announced by the Illinois Department of Conservation, according to Henry N. Barkhausen, director.

Mink, muskrat, raccoon, opossum, skunk, weasel, and red or gray fox trapping season will begin at noon Nov. 15 and end at noon Dec. 31 in the northern zone. The southern zone season begins at noon Nov. 24 and will run until noon Jan. 4. The boundary separating the northern zone from the southern zone is U. S. Route 36.

The season for deer trapping begins at noon Dec. 9 and will run until noon Feb. 29. Beaver shall be taken only with spring traps during the season. The parsons of Jo Daviess, Carroll, Whiteside and Rock Island counties lying west of Illinois Route 84 and north of Route 29, from Interstate 80 to the Wisconsin border are closed to beaver trapping.

Raccoon, opossum, skunk and weasel may be hunted beginning at noon Nov. 1 and continuing to noon Jan. 31. Red or gray may be hunted from noon Nov. 1 to noon Feb. 29. There will be no hunting of these species on Nov. 19, 20 and 21, and Dec. 10, 11 and 12 in counties which are open to deer hunting.

Groundhogs may be hunted throughout the year except during Nov. 19, 20 and 21, and Dec. 10, 11 and 12 in those counties.

Upland game hunting will be permitted in all counties except Pope, Hardin, Jo Daviess and Carroll during the deer season. However, the hunter must wear a cap or vest or upper outer garment of a solid vivid red.

Merced advanced to the title game earlier in the evening by defeating Mexican Highway 11-1. Charlie Wolfe homered as the winners racked 16 hits. Sonny Antoff was the winning pitcher.

July Arrests

Department of Conservation law enforcement officers arrested 533 persons in July for violating state fish, game, park, forestry and boating regulations.

The figure is well below that of the previous month, when 672 tickets were written, but only slightly under the 567 arrests recorded in July, 1970.

William D. Miller, chief of the law enforcement division, said, "boating infractions accounted for 144 arrests. There were 170 for fishing violations, 30 for park code breaches, 17 for game law violations and two tickets issued to timber dealers who neglected to obtain a 1971 timbering license."

Fines collected in July totaled $8,746, most of which was contributed by violators of Illinois fishing and boating regulations. The sums received by the department, and the codes to which the arrests were attributed, are as follows: fishing, $3,585; boating, $3,276; parks, $1,005; game, $680; forestry, $200.

July arrests probably provided only a small portion of the fines received that month, since collection frequently does not occur for months after an arrest and conviction.

Boaters failure to have approved life saving devices in their craft produced 171 of the July citations, Miller noted. He said there were 61 tickets issued for failure to have approved fire extinguishers aboard, 30 for operating unregistered boats, 17 for towing a boat without an observer in the boat, and 16 for operating a boat without lights at night.

Fishing without a license was the cause of 144 citations. There were 14 for dumping trash in waterways and seven for littering. Game violations included carrying untagged game in automobiles, failure to have a taxidermist permit, illegal possession of raccoon, trapping out of season, hunting with illegal devices or during a closed season, shooting a rifle over or into water and failure to have a game breeder's license.

Most frequent park code transgressions were exceeding posted speed limits, 11, and swimming in restricted areas, 7. Other arrests were for possession of liquor by minors, 4; riding a horse on park property, 1; carrying firearms in a state park, 2; operating an unauthorized boat on a state lake 1; dumping trash on state property, 2; operating a motorcycle off the roadway, 1; no camping permit 1.

Record Broken Again

For the third time in less than a month, the record for brown trout has been broken in the Illinois Record Fish Contest, Henry N. Barkhausen, Director of the Department, announced that the new record holder was Walter Bieszczak of Chicago.

Bieszczak landed a 13 pound, 5 ounce brown trout while fishing from the South Government Pier in Waukegan. The trout was 28 inches long and had a girth of 19 inches. The fish was taken on a one inch Hellgrammite with a No. 10 single hook. It was taken in water about eight feet deep, and took approximately 25 minutes to land.

The record setting fish had a right pectoral fin removed which indicates that it was caught by the Department, an official of Conservation biologists. It was one of 20,000 fish which were four to six inches in length when released in March of 1969.

The old record of brown trout was 12 pounds, 2 ounces and was set by Dick Zep at Waukegan on July 22. He had broken the week-old record of 11 pounds, 4 ounces, set by George Connors of Waukegan on July 15.

Park of the Week

A combination of natural beauty, historic lore and recreational facilities awaits the visitor to Kankakee River State Park. The 2,186 acre park is located eight miles northwest of Kankakee along Route 102. It is bounded on the northeast side by the Kankakee River and is further enhanced in beauty by Rock Creek in the north section of the park.

The preserving of the beautiful wooded area along the Kankakee River was the dream of a number of Kankakees for many years. Birth of the idea of a park originated in 1926 but it wasn't until 1933 that the first land was acquired.

The park has grown greatly in popularity the past few years. It serves not only the people of the Kankakee area but is also a popular picnicking and camping area for the people of Chicago and its suburbs.

The river, of course, is widely used by boating enthusiasts. In addition, the Kankakee River and Rock Creek have become popular fishing areas with good catches of bass, crappies and catfish.

The park has fine recreational facilities. It provides for softball and baseball, has several horseshoe pits, and boasts of courts that can be used for such sports as volleyball, badminton, deck tennis and the like. For the children numerous places with playground equipment dot the sprawling park.

Madison Firemen to Play Ladies Team

The Madison Fire Department will test the ability of the women's softball team it sponsored this season in a game at 3 p.m. Saturday on the Third Street diamond.

It was the first year the firemen sponsored the ladies team, composed of mothers and grandmothers. The firemen will treat the ladies to a dinner after the game.

CADET ART RATKEWICZ

Ratkewicz Gains Berth On Air Academy Team

Art Ratkewicz, a top performer in spring drills, has moved into the No. 2 left tackle slot for the Air Force Academy this fall.

The 6-4, 219-pound sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ratkewicz, 1608 Fifth St., Madison, played for the academy football team in 1970.

The Falcons, starting their 14th season under head coach Ben Martin, will be gunning for their fourth straight winning campaign. Martin has 25 returning lettermen — including two All-America candidates, tailback Brian Bream and center Ordeira Mitchell—along with a talented group of newcomers to handle a 10-game schedule.

The airman open their season against the Big Eight's Missouri Tigers Sept. 18 at Falcon Stadium. Other foes on the slate are Wyoming, Penn State, Southern Methodist, service-rial Army, Colorado State, Arizona State, Oregon, Tulsa and Colorado.

The academy romped over Missouri in a 37-14 upset win last year on the way to a 9-2 season and a berth against Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl — a clash they lost 34-13.

Ratkewicz was a two-year letterman and an all-state selection at Assumption High School in East St. Louis under coach Jim Monken. He also lettered in track.

A political science major, he will be commissioned an Air Force second lieutenant upon graduation from the academy in June 1974.

Warrior Grid Scrimmage Set For Today

Granite City High School football fans will get a first look at this year's team at 7:30 p.m. today in a varsity scrimmage.

The game will see all the defensive starters on the White team and the offensive starters on the Black team. According to head Coach Wayne Williams the fans should see some good football as the teams are not lopsided.

After tonight the coaches will decide starting rosters. Films will be taken.

There is no charge for today's game.

Park Golf Meet Set

Entries for the first annual Granite City Park District golf tournament will be accepted at the Arlington Golf Club will be accepted until 5 p.m. Friday at the Wilson Park office.

The entry fee is $10, which includes two 18-hole-round green fees. The tourney is limited to district residents.

The qualifying round will start from noon until 12:30 p.m. Saturday, with teoff in four-omes, and starting times Sunday will be from noon to 3 p.m. There will be four flights—championship, class A, class B and class C.

Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third places in each flight. Additional prizes will be awarded for the longest drive, closest to the hole and attendance. Prizes will be trophies and merchandise, based on the number of entries.

Frank R. Rea is tournament chairman.

Inter-City Playoffs To Start

The Southwestern Illinois Inter-City Baseball League playoffs will begin Sunday and continue on Sept. 19, 26 and Oct. 1.

The location of the first-round games will be decided when the Blue Division title is determined in a game between Moltor Motors and the Machinist Union of East Alton at 8 p.m. Friday at Collinsville.

The two teams ended the regular season in a first-place tie.

Highland-Pierron will play the first place team of the Blue Division Champs on the latter's diamond, and the second place winner of the Blue Division will play Troy on the Troy diamond.

Neither of the local teams, Mercer, or St. Mary's Boosters, will be in the playoffs, as Mercer finished third in the Blue Division, and St. Mary's finished fifth in the Red Division.

In each flight. Additional prizes will be awarded for the longest drive, closest to the hole and attendance. Prizes will be trophies and merchandise, based on the number of entries.

Dear Nana -- Active Senior Citizens Write Fine Letters; Read Newspapers

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copley News Service

Dear Nana: I'm certainly not criticizing your column and I thoroughly enjoy reading the letters you receive from the elderly, as I'm sure this age group needs all the help they can get.

But I'm curious as to whether they are really written by the aged.

I had no idea the older people were still interested and active in so many things.

Dear Amazed: I'm sure you're not the only one who's amazed that the elderly can still write a very fine letter. And they can write with this age group.

I have just received a letter from a 91-year-old lady who requested a copy of my hobby projects. She is still very active in her local church and wanted these arts and crafts instructions to help the younger generation make gift items for their fall bazaar. Who says the older generation can't touch the younger generation a thing or two?

Dear Nana: Regarding writing frustrations and their costs, I was dismayed by V. L. D.'s attitude and comments concerning their (I don't know if it's his or hers) writing deliriums. And by the way, who's Nana?

On one hand, many would evaluate this negative and discouraging approach as not worth printing as it would tend to discourage many would-be writers. On second thought, it is refreshing that it is out in the open and that way perhaps some one reader may offer a note of confidence and encouragement to the writer's letter. It is obvious that if they knew everything relative to the writing field then they could hardly be anything but successful.

Rejection slips are part of the game and so are bills at the end of the month, both discouraging. But if you can face taxes these days then I'd take a rejection slip any day of the week.

The reason I don't receive rejection slips is because I go through the back door on a sure bet. Know your limitations and don't press for a first-time, fast-buck, 6,000-word manuscript hit.

If you're having difficulties with a 6,000-word story, then I would indicate in my knowledge of the writing field that it is not a pretty good idea to expect reader's attention or 3,000 words must be repetitious.

Your letter clearly indicates you won't have to worry about competition. Is feeling sorry for one's self or catering to a persecution complex being hinted?

I've had this typewriter for over 12 years and haven't spent a dime on upkeep and maintenance. A ribbon now and then, yes. Of course if you toss it around like your temper then it could become quite costly.

I can buy 500 sheets of typing paper in the discount stores for less than $2, and this keeps me going for months. In your case this may be astronomical at $8.00 words per article.

The Writer's Yearbook costs $1.50, you've been duped again by an expert. You don't really need a Webster's dictionary, Roget's Thesaurus or a 1971 edition of the New York Times Encyclopedia. Almanac. Why? Because you should take up knitting. But then you'd be complaining about the cost of yarn, knitting needles and rocking chairs, especially if I scratched your polished floors. Don't listen to V. L. D. One person's groan is another person's ah.

K. N.

Dear N. N.: This Nana is just an ordinary grandmother who through her association with the elderly in owning a rest home and family realized the retirees, senior citizens and elderly had something worthwhile to say. So I created this character as a means of communication for this age group so they could express their opinions, interests and problems.

Questions on problems of the elderly may be sent to Copley News Service, P. O. Box 180, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

Good Neighbor Director to Speak

Mrs. Lynn Broeder will be guest speaker during the regular worship service Sunday at the Nameeki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Rd., the Rev. Larry Jackson, pastor, has announced.

Mrs. Broeder is the director of the "Good Neighbor" program of the Presbytery of Southeast Missouri.

"Good Neighbors" puts middle class families who know the skills of urban living into direct person to person contact with lower income families who can learn some of the skills. The program is more educational than it is physical help, it was explained.

Mrs. Broeder's choice and the "Good Neighbors" program recently were the subject of a feature story in Presbyterian Life, a denominational magazine.

The public is invited to attend the service.

Miss Patricia Winkle is Engaged

Mrs. and Daniel F. Winkle, 4923 Breckenridge Lane, have just announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Winkle, to Army Private Robert S. Zaruba, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Zaruba, 2514 Lynch Ave.

The bride-to-be graduated from the Granite City High School last June and is presently employed as a checker at Filters Market on Pontoon Road.

Her fiancé is a military police trainee, assigned to an M.P. unit at Fort Gordon, Ga. He is a 1969 graduate of the local high school and prior to entering service was employed at Viviano's Food Wagon on Pontoon Road.

Wedding plans are indefinite.

PERSONAL TOUCH. Thanks to many new materials on the market, a child's room can have a custom look and still stand up to the wear and tear a youngster is bound to give it. Waterproof carpeting, vinyl paints and wallpapers can help individualize the room and keep expense to a minimum.

New Materials Give Practical, Fresh Approach in Decorating Child's Room

By MARIE STANTON
Copley News Service

Children's rooms are all their own. They may be a part of the family room, but they are not. They are a place where a child's special requirements cause them to be given special consideration and treatment in their design if they are to perform their function satisfactorily.

And function they must. Practically, as any mother knows, is just as important as her as for her offspring. It's no fun to harangue the children to treat anything with kid gloves and equally defeating to expect that hand prints will not decorate the walls -- in particularly elaborate designs around light switches and closet doors.

So why worry? Take heed of what's on the market. "I feel there's no reason why a child's room can't be exciting and attractive for the child and at the same time very practical with all the new materials on the market. There are carpets that are absolutely child proof," says Robert Tuggey, a member of the National Society of Interior Designers.

Scrutable Vinyl Walls Tuggey frequently emphasizes wall coverings in children's rooms he designs. "I can get terrific quality with scrutable vinyls that are tearably practical and tough," he commented. "And you can even get stripable vinyls which can be easily changed and replaced without changing the paper. But don't let the kid know it's stripable," he joked.

Another of Tuggey's considerations in a children's room design is to create a room for a child that isn't tied to one particular age level. He likes to give a boy a tailored room that can see him from nine years of age to college without seeming inappropriate.

Avoid Fads This can be accomplished by avoiding fads and "cute" treatments and instead using good designs and colors, Tuggey contends.

"And I like to keep fixed wall decorating to a minimum so the child can display his surfing equipment, his posters and school projects he's particularly interested in. I also like to arrange the room so the bed is against a wall and there is plenty of floor space for playing and stretching out. I like to create a sort of studio in a child's room so it's his own world -- a place for him to escape."

N.S.I.D.'s Allen Hughes says he has mixed emotions about giving children a free hand in doing their own room. "Many parents start out discouraging the child's room by planning to let the offspring make the selections. Then the parents say no on this and that and it isn't the child's choice."

"Children know what they want and that's lots and lots of bright colors, huge posters and pillows on the floor." But Hughes feels that too much jarring color can be overstimulating and in some cases can have a detrimental effect on a child's behavior.

Joint Venture Hughes feels that choosing the furniture and colors for a youngster's room should be a joint venture between parent and child for the best results.

Speaking from the viewpoint of a young mother, M. Charles Vanderway of San Diego, Calif., believes a child's room should be a happy and exciting place. "I always feel sad and depressed when I go into a child's room and it's filled with

SOCIETY

Miss Iris M. Woodward Becomes Mrs. James Roz

Sacred Heart Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding Sept. 4 at 4 o'clock of Miss Iris Marie Woodward, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woodward, 2823 Madison Ave., and James Anthony Roz, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Roz of Cicero, Ill.

The organist, Miss Hazel Rhoades, accompanied Miss Vicki Smith as she sang "Wedding Prayer" and "I Love You Truly."

Mr. Woodward escorted his daughter down the aisle and gave her in marriage. The Rev. Daniel Flynn officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose a Empire silhouetted gown of sheer organza and Venice lace. Lace etched the bateau neckline and the long sleeves. The Camelot lace, an underbanding of satin ribbon encircled the high waistline. For her headpiece she chose a layered bow band which secured her cape-length, edged, lace-trimmed hair and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and baby breath.

Mrs. Sharon Wright was matron of honor, serving with bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Patrick, Laura Ann Woodward, Linda Woodward and Debra Bernese. Kathi Woodward, a niece of the bride, was flower girl with Jeffrey Klein, a nephew of the groom, as ring bearer. The attendants chose par-length gowns fashioned of sheer organza made on Empire lines with gathered skirts of pink and white. They carried baskets of pink and white pom poms and purple statice with pink bows.

Glenn Rogers served as best man, with Terry Woodward, a brother of the bride, John Quinn, Edward Pavlis and Kenneth Sevcik, as groomsmen. Ushers were Wilbert Bernese and William Klein.

The bride's mother selected a beige daron frock with brocade jacket. Mrs. Roz chose a lime green crepe dress. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

An evening reception was held at the Moose Lodge. The bride and groom also attended a rehearsal dinner given at the home of the bride's parents the previous night.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brummel and William Brummel of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. William Klein and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Bernese. Also Mr. and Mrs. Donald Woodward from Spokane.

After a honeymoon at Tanager-A, the newlyweds will live in Carbondale where Mrs. Roz will student teach in January.

Special Pupils' Picnic Saturday

Parents for Special Education will meet tonight at 7 at the Region I Special Education District office, 2801 Madison Ave. Sitter service will be provided, and refreshments will be served.

Norman Kinder, president, is asking parents to support special education programs and activities. Larry Daws, a new Region I supervisor, will attend tonight.

A slide program featuring the children in the classroom and participating in recreation will be given by Mrs. Melba Grady and Mrs. Jean Fisher.

Plans will be completed for a family basket picnic Saturday, Sept. 11, after 11 a.m. at Wilson Park Shelter 20 on Benton Street. An afternoon of games and prizes is planned.

All families of special education children and teachers and their families are to attend. Mrs. Bernese Myers is chairman of the event.

Scouting programs also are getting under way this month, and the interested may contact the following leaders: Brownie Troop 509, for girls ages 7-10, George Schellrich, 876-6866; Girl Scout Troop 245, ages 10-14, Miss Vickie Yetter, leader, 876-6846; and Cub Pack 111, boys aged 9-12, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conrod, leaders, 877-8258.

Parent Council Board Tonight

The Granite City Area Council of Parents and Teachers will hold an executive board meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the teachers' lounge at McCall School, 316 E. Chain of Rocks Road. Mrs. Juanita Hunter is area president for the 1971-72 school year.

Immediately following the board meeting, the PTA Council will sponsor a "PTA course" at 8 o'clock. Bob Kirgan, Area Council treasurer, will be the instructor for the course, which is intended to acquaint PTA officers and chairmen with the goals and workings of a PTA unit. All interested persons are urged to attend. Three later sessions will be announced.

The regular Area Council meeting will be a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 23, at Niedringhaus School.

Revival to Start At Church of God

Evangelist and Mrs. Billy Skipper of Cleveland, Tenn., will conduct a revival campaign at the Church of God, 2201 Orville Ave., beginning Tuesday and scheduled to run through Sept. 26, the pastor, the Rev. Garland E. Mills, has announced.

Described as an outstanding evangelist, the Rev. Skipper served as state evangelist in Georgia before coming to Illinois for revivals with organ and piano music and songs.

The public is invited to attend the special services each week night at 7:30, and at 8:30 Sunday evening.

Choir Program at Third Baptist

The adult and youth choirs of Third Baptist Church will present a program, "The Sound of Singing," at 6:30 Sunday evening. Accompanying the choirs will be a brass sextet, two flutes, timpani, piano and organ.

The theme of the presentation is the second coming of Jesus and several familiar hymns and tunes will be used, as well as new songs, to make an exciting program.

The public is invited to attend the program at the church, 26th Street and Grand Avenue. The Rev. Carl Watkins is pastor of the church and David T. Richardson is associate pastor.

HOME FROM VISIT WITH PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Sander of 3020 Dale Ave., which their children Roger, Geraldine and Mary Beth, returned here this week after visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sparr and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Sander in Jefferson City, Mo.

The family returned the previous week from a two-week vacation in Cheboygan, Mich. where they visited with their son, George Sander. He is stationed on the Coast Guard cutter, Mackinaw, in Cheboygan.

The family stopped in Higbee, Mo., to visit Mr. Sander's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Points, and to attend the Higbee Fair.

They also visited with the William Stigge family of Weaver, Iowa. The local residents visited points of interest in Illinois including the Aloha State Park located on Mullet Lake, Mich., American So. Locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., the Tahquamenon Falls, historic Fort Michilimackiac and Schell City, USA.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holt Mark 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holt, 2816 Palmer Ave., observed their 55th wedding anniversary at their home this week.

The couple was married Sept. 8, 1916 in Samburg, Tenn., and farmed there until 1950 when they came to Granite City, where Mr. Holt was employed by the National Lead Co., for 1963.

They have three children, Edward and Charles Holt and Mrs. Mary Louise Glass all of Granite City. The Hols also have 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

First Birthday Party for Timothy Harrigan. Timothy Erin Harrigan celebrated his first birthday with a party given this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harrigan, 2201 Cardinal Ave.

The theme of the party was "Raggy Andy" and it was carried out in the plates, cups, napkins and tablecloth.

Birthday cake, ice cream, coffee and punch were served to Floyd Cruse and son, Jeff, Leo Harrigan, Mrs. Maybell Harrigan, paternal grandmother and Mrs. Myrtle Elmore and Mrs. Dorothea Tippet of Florissant.

Also in attendance was the honoree's older brother, Patrick to Shawn, three years old. Each child present received a toy and candy, and a prize was won by Miss Debbie Phelps.

Walker-Ross Ceremony At Niedringhaus Church

The wedding of Miss Jackie Elizabeth Ross, a daughter of Mrs. Josephine Ross, 2871 Washington Ave., and Frank Dennis Walker, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Walker of Hollywood Heights, Caseyville, was solemnized Sept. 4 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Altar bouquets of white, yellow and tangerine daisies and baby breath, together with candles in candelabra, daisy bouquets and yellow ribbon on the pews, provided the setting for the 2 o'clock ceremony performed by the pastor, the Rev. Roy Baugh.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Frank Jones. She wore a floor-length gown of silk organza trimmed with bands of Chantilly and Valenciennes lace. The Empire bodice was designed with a high lace-trimmed neckline and long, full sleeves gathered at the wrists to lace cuffs.

Vertical bands of lace covered the waist and continued on the A-line skirt. Additional lace finished the hem and a satin ribbon sash and front bow accented the waistline. Tiny satin buttons trimmed the front of the gown. The only ornament worn was a cameo pin, a gift of her mother.

A madonna veil was trimmed with lace to match that used on the gown and the bride held a circular bouquet of white daisies and baby breath.

Mrs. Nina Bradford was matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sisters, Misses Diana and Rosalie Walker, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of a brocade polyester styled with Empire waists and Victorian sleeves trimmed with Val lace.

The honor attendant wore Emerald green, and the bridesmaids were in maize and tangerine. Headpieces were of yellow, tangerine and white daisies and they carried bouquets of the same colors with yellow streamers.

The little flower girl, Julie Grider, was in a dress of yellow crystalline chiffon over tullea trimmed with bands of white Venice lace on the short puffed sleeves and bodice. White applique daisies sprinkled the flowing skirt. She carried a basket of daisies and baby breath and wore a head band of flowers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of polyester knit and a printed, sleeveless coat, while the bridegroom's mother chose a rose polyester knit street dress. Both had corsages of white mums.

Jim Ramert was best man for Mr. Walker. Dan Selzer, John Kibler and Fernando Figueroa and Don Camillo served as groomsmen and ushers.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Hulda Griffith at the piano, and Mrs. Dolores Mount, vocalist. The latter sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Sweetheart Tree."

The wedding reception was held directly after the ceremony in Wesley Hall of the church with Miss Janet Crawford in charge of the guest book.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at their home.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dudenbostel of Steele, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker of Carlisle, Ill.; Mrs. Margaret Diller and Kent Walker of Caseyville; Mrs. Sylvia Bogsemmer, Booneville, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Camillo and family of Bonne Terre, Mo.; Major and Mrs. Paul E. Golden and son, Sean, of Creve Coeur, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hopson, Raytown, Mo.; Michael Kearney, Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fahrenholz of Mount Vernon, Ill.; Mrs. Mina Figueroa and Mrs. Emma Sigola of Webster Groves, Mo., and many others from St. Louis, Collinsville, and Edwardsville.

The newlyweds will reside in Granite City. Both young people are attending SU-SW and the bride holds a secretarial position in the accounting department of the university. Mr. Walker is employed in the library there.

Library Acquires Music Collection

Among the newest acquisitions of Southern Illinois University's Lovejoy Library at SIU-SW is a music collection assembled by the Essex Institute of Salem, Mass., which covers a 200-year period.

Purchased from Goodspeed's of Boston with money provided by the Friends of Lovejoy Library, the collection is available for research by SIU-SW students, faculty and all interested persons, according to fine arts librarian Mabel Murphy.

Included in the collection are 262 song books going back to 1773; 359 hymnals of the early 19th century; 1,100 librettos, mainly 18th-century European operas; and 7,000 pieces of sheet music, many with illustrated covers.

Also included are more than 100 vocal and instrumental instruction books, as well as several hundred concert programs and concert bills, principally of musical programs in the Boston area during the 19th century.

RESEARCH AT SIU-SW. Looking over material in the Essex collection which they will use in research are two SIU-SW music majors — Linda Boyer (left), East St. Louis, and Cathy Mohrskow (right), Cahokia. Both will be seniors this fall. With them is Prof. Dorothy Tulloss, music education adviser at the local campus.

Patio Book Sale Set Sept. 28 at SIU-SW

A patio book sale will be held at Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 28. The public is invited. Sponsored by the Friends of Lovejoy Library, the sale will include books priced from five cents up. In the event of rain, the sale will be scheduled the following day.

Health Insurance Plan At SIU-SW Under Study

A committee of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern students and administrators has been named to study the problem of how to provide a health insurance program for students for the 1971-72 academic year.

President John S. Rendleman has asked Dr. Ramon Williamson, dean of students; Ken Ramers of the personnel office; Robert Murray, purchasing officer; and Dr. Roland Wiggins of the health service to meet with two students to be appointed by John Phillips, president of the student body.

The health insurance problem arose when Blue Cross, which has offered a voluntary plan in the past, notified university officials it could not continue the plan this year because of the president's price freeze. Blue Cross reported its losses were 14% greater than income generated by premium payments.

The insurance carrier offered to renew the plan without a rate increase if it were to be made mandatory. Only a small percentage of students used the voluntary plan last year. In the past the university has been opposed to any compulsory insurance plan.

Members of the ad hoc committee to study the insurance problem met for the first time Tuesday.

Questions on 'Freeze' Still Being Answered

Persons with questions about the Wage-Price-Rent Freeze can get answers by calling the East St. Louis office of the Internal Revenue Service at 274-2200, IRS District Director Jay G. Philpott reminded the public today. The Alton IRS office telephone number of 462-0601. Philpott said each IRS office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and is now prepared with guidelines and answers from the Cost of Living Council in Washington. Each office receives rulings and decisions daily on previously unanswered questions.

Philpott said the offices are among 360 IRS offices across the country that have been designated to provide information and assistance on the Wage-Price-Rent Freeze. Additionally, Philpott said, 2,800 offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service are available to provide information on the freeze in outlying areas.

The IRS offices also can receive and process written complaints and reports of violations.

State Police Pay Hike Beat Freeze

By JERRY OWENS
Copley News Service

Springfield — Although thousands of state employees won't receive scheduled pay raises in September because of President Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze, state policemen lugged out and were given raises in August before the freeze was announced.

Virtually all state policemen, from majors to troopers, received a 3% cost-of-living salary hike Aug. 1, as provided for in the appropriation passed by the General Assembly.

Employees under the governor, as well as those under several other elected state officials, were to receive the same boost Sept. 1. However, the freeze forbids raises after Aug. 14, even if raises were provided for earlier.

Besides the state policemen, employees of the state treasurer's office evidently were the only other large group of state employees that have benefited from general pay boosts thus far this year.

The policemen can't thank Ogilvie administration officials for the raises, though. Gov. Ogilvie's staff aides, Law Enforcement Director Herbert Brown and State Police Sgt. James McGuire, opposed giving them the raises early.

"We figured we policemen were no better than the rest of the state employees and therefore should wait until September like the others," comments Sgt. Robert Klemm, administrative aide to McGuire.

Lobbying successes But Lodge 41 of the Fraternal Order of Police, made up entirely of state policemen, lobbied vigorously during the session for raises in July or August rather than September. The legislature acceded to the group's wishes.

Lodge 41 and other backers of the early raise pointed out at a Sept. 1 meeting that a September raise would mean a year for a cost-of-living boost, for they last got one in August 1970.

Among employees under the governor who must now wait at least until Nov. 14 for a pay boost are Ogilvie's executive office staff, key executives and policymakers in the administration and thousands of patronage and civil service employees in the various code agencies.

Two other elected state officials — Secretary of State John Lewis and State Auditor Michael Rowlett — close to follow Ogilvie's example and give 3% boosts in September. Employees in those offices now must also wait a few months. Lt. Gov. Paul Simon would either have done the same, as he did last year, or given no raises at all this year.

State School Supt. Michael Bakalis planned no raises this year. Atty. Gen. William Scott gave raises to his support staff (clerks, secretaries and the like) shortly after July 1, but professionals were to receive raises later, so they too must wait the time that a September raise wait.

R. W. Krause Promoted To Lance Corporal

Robert W. Krause, 19, U. S. Marines, has been promoted to Lance Corporal while stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Krause, 2925 Dale Ave., he entered the service in July 1970 and attended radio school at San Diego, Calif. He will leave later this month for a cruise on the USS Mt. Whitney as a code and radio operator.

Memories of Nick's Ice Cream Parlor Revived by City's Anniversary Events

Answers Being Supplied to Perennial Critics of U. S.

By DONNA HOGAN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Reminiscing during the week of the Diamond Jubilee activities and the Elkettes' float of Nick's Ice Cream Parlor in the Jubilee parade brings to mind one of the most enjoyable family establishments that Quad-City residents knew and patronized years ago.

Many families will remember Nick's Ice Cream Parlor at 1312 Nineteenth St., owned and operated by Nick Acquaviva from 1915 until 1945, when he retired. The original store quarters is now occupied by Helman's Style Shop.

Those who remember Nick's do so with nostalgia, reminding them of a youthful enjoyment in an age that was both peaceful and serene in comparison with today's busy whirl of events and fast living pace.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 14 Thurs., Sept. 9, 1971

The Elkettes float in the Diamond Jubilee parade was an excellent replica of the ice cream parlor to the extent of the old fashioned ceiling fan suspended at the top of the float and authentic round tables with "ice cream chairs." Ice cream sodas and sundaes on the tables completed the scene so well remembered.

Mrs. Irma Buscemi and her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Blackburn, were co-chairmen for preparation of the float. They were assisted by a committee of Elkettes who worked 48 hours and used more than 12,000 Kleenex to form the colored base of the float.

Born in Sicily

Nick Acquaviva was born in Sicily, Italy, and came to the United States in 1915, settling in St. Louis where he first was employed as a section hand on the railroad. Later he worked as a cook and bartender in a saloon in St. Louis.

He married a St. Louis-born girl, the former Mary Caruso, on Nov. 27, 1910, at St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church in St.

Louis. After their marriage they made plans to open a business and finally decided on an ice cream parlor and candy store.

After much deliberation they chose Granite City as they had been impressed with the city on an earlier visit. Nick felt the city had the potential to grow and become a fine place to raise a family. He wanted to take part in the growth of a new community.

Mr. Acquaviva opened his business in 1915 making his variety of delicious homemade candies in a small kitchen at the rear of the store, and was later to be assisted by his wife, a daughter and two sons.

Became an Expert

He took great pleasure in becoming an expert in concocting ice cream sundaes and sodas and preparing a "Lovers Delight" sundae, which he originated.

His wife assisted him in the operation of the ice cream parlor until the arrival of their first child, Miss Ann Acquaviva. They later had two sons, Joseph "Joe" Acquaviva, who died Jan. 9, 1965, and Bernard Acquaviva.

All three children eventually worked in the store, even when they took employment in other fields. Joseph Acquaviva was an electrician at Granite City Steel and later became a local newspaper distributor. His widow still resides in Granite City.

Miss Acquaviva has worked for the Illinois Power Co. for the past 18 years and makes her home with her mother.

Bernard Acquaviva started working in local steel industries and now is employed at the U. S. Army Mobility Equipment Command in St. Louis. He has completed 25 years service in government work.

His wife, Mrs. Hilda Acquaviva, is a local real estate saleswoman. They are the parents of Nick's only grandchild, Miss Bernadette Acquaviva. Miss Acquaviva graduated from SIU-SW and is employed with her father at the Army installation.

Proud of America

Although Nick was a native of Italy, he never felt a desire to return to his birthplace, but was an extremely patriotic naturalized citizen. According to his family, he made the statement, "I am an American, this is my country and I am proud of it."

The store was arranged with an ice cream bar on the right side of the building where the sundaes and ice cream delicacies were prepared and served. Directly opposite were the glass cases filled with candy, including milk chocolate broken into large chunks and hot salted peanuts. In the rear of the room, individual ice cream tables and chairs were used by families and children who stopped in for their regular treats.

It is interesting to recall that an ice cream soda or sundae with two flavors and nuts cost 10 cents and the famous Lovers Delight was priced at 15 cents. Thick rich malts and milk shakes were 15 cents and fresh hot salted peanuts, made daily, cost 5 cents a bag or 10 cents a pound. Roasted peanuts in the shell, also made daily, sold for the same price.

The entire Acquaviva family would square in the store after closing hours to make chocolate covered ice cream balls and other items sold in the store. Nick himself worked long hours, beginning at 7 a.m. in the morning and seldom quitting before midnight.

REMODELED QUARTERS for Nick's ice cream parlor completed in 1929 with the latest modern equipment of that day. Standing behind the ice cream bar is Bernard Acquaviva and his father, Nick.

Visited With Passerby

The older generation especially may remember seeing Nick sitting during the warm nights outside his store, where he visited with everyone who passed by.

He died March 2, 1947, but his little store will be long remembered by many residents. During the world war II years his place of business became a favorite meeting place for the teen-age crowd.

The Acquaviva family were members of St. Joseph Catholic Church and the children attended St. Joseph school. Mrs. Acquaviva who is 76 now, attends St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. She has one sister, Mrs. Josie Tamburello of Collinsville, and many nieces and nephews living in the area.

ELKETTES seated at ice cream tables on the float used in the 75th anniversary celebration parade. The float was built as a replica of Nick's Ice Cream Parlor. Mrs. Irma Buscemi and her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Blackburn, served as co-chairmen for the project of preparing the parade entry.

NICK'S ICE CREAM PARLOR as it appeared when it first opened in 1915. The large round container at left was a hot chocolate dispenser. Standing behind the ice cream bar is Mrs. Acquaviva. Nick and their son, Bernard, who was 3 years old, are standing in the middle aisle in front of the candy cases.

Optometric Society Plans Fall Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. Leo A. Roman of Granite City returned this week from Chicago where Dr. Roman, acting as a delegate for the Southwestern Illinois Optometric Society, attended a caucus meeting at the Marriott motor hotel to consider candidates for Illinois Optometric Association officers for the 1971-72 year.

Plans also were finalized for the annual Illinois Optometric Association convention to be held this fall, in Springfield, Ill. Keynote speakers at the convention will include Dr. Michael Bakalis, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Floyd Cargill, director of the Division of Visual Service, Illinois Department of Rehabilitation; and Fred L. Beacher, president, Vision Institute of America.

The educational program will include Dr. Murry Rich and Dr. Robert A. Koetting as speakers.

The Woman's Auxiliary will hold its annual business meeting and attend the scheduled educational sessions including one featuring Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Traffic Safety Department, State of Illinois.

Highlight of the convention will be the reception and luncheon banquet with Lt. Gov. Paul Simon acting as installation speaker, followed by the presidential ball.

America has become a prime target for the critic, professional and amateur alike.

Its leaders are downgraded, its government policies derided, its "square" people of an earlier generation ridiculed.

So it's encouraging to find that voices now are being raised to answer this army of critics with a chapter-and-verse recital of what America has offered in the past and what it has to give today and tomorrow.

Bobby Earheart, 29, Found Dead in Car

Bobby Gene Earheart, 29, of 2903 Cayuga St., was pronounced dead at home by a deputy coroner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

He was found by his wife, Charlotte, in the front seat of the family auto in the garage, with the engine running and the garage door closed. Mrs. Earheart summoned help from neighbors, who called police.

A note was found on the front seat. He was born in Stewart County, Tenn., and was employed on the assembly line at the Chevrolet Plant in St. Louis. He was a member of the West 22nd Street Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Earheart; a son, Kevin Earheart, and daughter, Pamela Earheart, both residing in Tennessee; one stepdaughter, Sherry James of Newalla, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Lee Earheart of Indian Mound, Tenn.; three brothers, Johnnie and Terry Earheart, both of Granite City, and Archie Earheart of Paris, Tenn.; four sisters, Mrs. Wilma Carroll of Granite City, Mrs. Brenda Miller of Clarksburg, Tenn., Miss Norma Earheart and Miss Joyce Earheart, both of Indian Mound, Tenn.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Vandalism at Church

Vandals scattered a syrupy substance and newspapers over the porch of Christ Gospel Church, W. 21st Street and Dewey Avenue, it was reported at 12:10 a.m. today. Broken glass was strewn over the area.

Dunbar Equipment Assailed; Attendance Is Up Slightly

Testimony critical of the Madison school district's operation of Dunbar Grade School was given Tuesday and Wednesday in the Circuit Court by administrators and faculty members.

Five parents are suing to compel improvement of Dunbar and obtain transfer of pupils to other schools during repair work. Many parents are keeping their children home but attendance rose to 20 yesterday and 23 students today.

Miss Bernice Pitts, home economics teacher, testified that pupils "had to pretend to cook" because no food supplies were provided. She added that in some cases she conducted demonstrations with food she bought or with food items from the school cafeteria or from pupils. She said the classroom has one food mixer, which does not work; two gas ranges, not used because they leak; and an electric range, which has faulty heat control. She said 12 sewing machines are broken and that Supt. Fred Riddle has authorized six new machines.

Miss Pitts and Robert R. Cowan, a science teacher, said Dunbar has only one microscope and about 15 slides.

Principal Bernard Long said basement restrooms are not used when it rains because of sewer backups occurring when a pump is not properly adjusted. The building has termite, wall cracks, loose gymnasium flooring and windows that are hard to open, he added.

Supt. Riddle also discussed cracks in several walls and said a state inspector last week opposed allowing children in the gymnasium. He said the school basically was certified as safe for use.

Outside the hearing before Judge William Beatty, Mrs. Barbara Madison, one of the five parents, said the school lacks adequate science, industrial arts, library, home economics and music equipment.

Europe Is Club Topic; Madison Rotary Outing

Madison Rotarians yesterday viewed color photo slides taken by Rev. Donald Bogue, pastor of the Madison Methodist Church, during his July auto tour of the southern part of West Germany and the eastern portion of Switzerland. He described the scenes visited.

Plans were made to omit next Wednesday's luncheon and at 4 p.m. that day tour the Cahokia Mound State Park, where supper will be enjoyed. The curator is to explain archeological excavations.

President J.W. Starkey presided and it was announced that the Rotary District 646 annual fund day will be held Sept. 22 in Virden.

Remains Critical

William K. Miles, 24, of 2614 Grand Ave. remained in critical condition in the intensive care unit at St. Elizabeth Hospital today as a result of gunshot wounds suffered during the weekend in front of the Sportsman's Club, Tenth and Iowa streets, Madison.

Dust From Homes Used As Evidence in Hearing

Citizen's complaints of alleged air pollution by Granite City Steel Co. were brought before Environmental Protection Agency hearings here for the first time this morning as Merl Rohlinger, chief chemist for the EPA, Air Pollution Division, Springfield, testified concerning samples of dust and iron taken from several local homes.

Rohlinger testified that he visited homes here on Jan. 21 in response to complaints of iron dust on several houses. He introduced samples of dust taken from three homes and indicated iron dust was present in each sample. All of the homes "had a nearly unobstructed view of Granite City Steel Co.," he stated.

The samples were taken from the homes of Joseph Smith, 2642 Lincoln Ave., Elmer L. Ebrecht, 2629 E. 27th St., and Robert R. Alford, 2321 E. 23rd St. An additional sample, taken by another EPA engineer, was from the home of Harold C. Lynn, 2103 Monroe St.

Rohlinger testified that the sample taken from the Lynn residence was 64% iron dust but he could not state the iron dust percentage of the other samples.

The chemist was the first witness called to the stand today in the City Hall courtroom. The hearings resumed yesterday afternoon.

er a one-month vacation period. Thomas Sullivan, a Chicago attorney representing Granite City Steel Co. called Anton Telford, manager of the Region 4 office of the EPA in Collinsville, to the stand yesterday to complete cross-examination begun before the vacation period. Telford answered several technical questions for Sullivan.

Clarence Beck, engineer for the EPA in Collinsville, took the stand as a prosecution witness yesterday and testified to alleged pollution violations which he observed from the local steel company.

Herbert Caplin, assistant attorney general, and Jack LaSara, local attorney, are prosecuting attorneys for the EPA. Sullivan is assisted by Randall E. Robertson, Granite City attorney in the defense. The hearing is being conducted by Samuel Lawton Jr., hearing examiner.

Decision On Warehouse By End Of September

A decision on whether to rebuild the giant Bulk Service warehouse at the Tri-City Regional Port will be made the end of this month, Ed Anderson, manager of Bulk Service, said today.

The $125,000 warehouse was destroyed by fire Monday, Aug. 30, with about $1,200,000 worth of fertilizer inside.

"We have managed to salvage over one-half of the contents at this time," Anderson stated.

BOILING WATER BATH SAFE FOR PROCESSING TOMATOES

Why not try your hand at home canning this summer? Tomatoes, for example, are readily available, easy to can and don't require any special processing equipment, such as a steam pressure canner.

The high-acid content of tomatoes makes them safe to process in a boiling water bath. But all other vegetables—except the pickled ones—require a steam pressure canner for safe processing.

Use only perfect, ripe tomatoes for canning. Loosen the skins by dipping the tomatoes into boiling water for about a half minute and then dip them quickly into cold water. Cut out the stem ends and peel the tomatoes.

Hot Packing
To hot pack tomatoes, quarter the peeled tomatoes. Place them in a pan and bring them to a boil, stirring to prevent sticking.

Pack the boiling hot tomatoes to about a half inch from the top of glass jars. Add a half teaspoon of salt to filled pint jars, and one teaspoon to quart jars.

Adjust the lids and place the containers in a canner or pan containing boiling water. Process both pint and quart jars in a boiling water bath (212 degrees F.) for 10 minutes.

After processing time is finished, remove the jars from the canner, and complete the seals if necessary.

Powell Was Part Owner Of Cahokia Race Track

Paul Powell, late Illinois secretary of state, was a stockholder in a land trust which owns the Cahokia Downs horse race track in St. Clair County, the Illinois Racing Board said Wednesday in Chicago. The list of stockholders had been sought by those investigating the $500,000 cash hoard found after Powell's death.

It was previously disclosed that Cong. Melvin Price is one of the race track owners through the land trust. Others include Patrick S. O'Neill, son of the late Schaeffer O'Neill, the latter a former Illinois House Speaker.

Former Venice School Supt. J. H. Gore Dies

Former Venice School Supt. Joseph H. Gore, 83, Carlisle, who retired in 1955, died Monday evening at his home. He was reported here yesterday. His wife, Mary, died Aug. 20. Born in Girard, Ill., he leaves a son, Spencer Gore, Elmhurst, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Alexander, Champaign, and Mrs. Gladys Kerr, El Paso, Tex.; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. The funeral was in Carlisle at 2 p.m. today, with burial in the City Cemetery there.

Burglars Loot Home

Jackie Lamborn, 2115a Delmar Ave., reported at 4 p.m. Wednesday that burglars looted her apartment during the night. Taken were three pairs of lady's bell bottom pants valued at $21, a pant suit valued at $23, a brown man's jacket valued at $20, a pair of boy's bell bottoms valued at $7, two boy's shirts valued at $10 and two transistor radios valued at $40.

$396,900 Allocated to County for Unemployed

An estimated 88 jobs will be created in Madison County for unemployed persons during the course of the next 12 months as a result of the new federal Emergency Employment Act, which has allocated the sum of $396,900 to the county for the program.

Dan Churovich, county program director, said the federal allocation will be supplemented with $44,100 in county funds, making a total of $441,000 available for jobs for the unemployed.

The first funds distributed under the program, amounting to $88,144-$79,380 from the federal government and $8,814 from the county—has enabled a total of 29 job openings to be created, Churovich said.

Fourteen unemployed persons already hired with the initial funds include two sheriff's deputies, three jailers, one clerk-typist, three park workers and three sanitation workers. Six highway workers also are expected to be hired with the initial disbursement.

Man Believed Drowned At Venice Boat Ramp

U. S. Coast Guardsmen searched the Venice riverfront area early today for Ben Payton, 30, St. Louis, who apparently drowned while wading at the Venice boat ramp.

Payton's brother, William Payton, also of St. Louis, told Venice police he and Ben, with two women companions, were at the boat ramp with their feet in the water when Ben took off his clothes and waded into the river.

He told officers he last saw his brother in the water about 20 feet south of the boat dock. A few minutes later, he reported, he called to his brother, but received no answer. Payton said he then went to the McKinley bridge toll booth from where he summoned police.

Coast Guards officers said they searched the area but found no trace of the missing man. Venice police said the current at that particular point is very strong.

New Clothing Styles an Attraction to Quad-City Women During the Fall-Winter Season

OUTDOOR FASHION. These jeans with the sturdy stripes and the Levi's western jacket are ideal for backpacking. Designer Dan Weinberg calls jeans "an American invention that grew up with the country."

EDWARDIAN STYLE. Silvana Mangano portrays cameo beauty of that era in "Death in Venice." The 1912 look may begin to influence current styles.

ON THE WAY OUT? Such attire may give way to more conservative garb during the fall and winter. But for the early fall, items like newsboy caps, Spiro Agnew watches and fringed vests are still "in."

FORMAL GOWNS for fall and winter include such romantic styles as taffetas with full skirts rustling below snug bodies. The quaint charm of the fabric is emphasized by plaids.

KEY ROLE FOR SUEDE is being predicted. Dyed in clear bright colors, warm jewel tones and soft neutrals, it can fill a variety of fashion roles and offers a contrast in textures.

SWEATERS ARE WARMING UP for a big fall and winter. From short and skimpy to long and easy, they will be cozy companions to a number of outfits in the coming months.

FALL CLASSICS with an impish touch. Skirts—pleated, flared or slim—can open in slashes to mid-thigh or waistband, revealing shorts or colorful stockings.

Amvets Auxiliary Sets 'Family Day'

An "Auxiliary Family Day" was planned for Saturday, Sept. 18 by members of Amvets Post 51 Auxiliary at a regular meeting held last evening in the post home, 5100 Lakeview Drive. Members also discussed sponsoring a "Spaghetti Supper," Saturday, Oct. 2, with serving from 4 to 9 p.m. The public will be invited to attend the latter event with proceeds to be used for various charity projects financed by the women during the fall and winter months. Mrs. Betty Wilkins, auxiliary president, conducted the business session. She noted that a letter of appreciation from the Venice Lion's Club thanked members for their participation in the Tom Hooks barbecue benefit. A social hour was enjoyed and a buffet-style supper was served by co-hostesses, Mrs. Lorraine Varner and Mrs. Melba Manning.

'What Is Life?' Xi Epsilon Topic

Members of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Wednesday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. William Laule, for the first regular meeting of the 1971-1972 club year. Mrs. Jack Tolliver described two social events held during the summer: a surprise sunrise breakfast in June and a family picnic held last month at the river cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Eblin. Also reviewed by Mrs. Tolliver was the calendar of social activities to be followed by the group during the coming year. Mrs. Delores Dorch explained the extent of service projects which have been planned to assist the less fortunate. Mrs. Ralph Haldeman assigned the cultural programs to be given by members throughout the year based on the central theme, "Life, Learning, Friendship." A special welcome was extended to Mrs. Michael Lombardi, who has resumed active participation in the organization. Mrs. Eblin presented the program, "What Is Life?" assisted by Mrs. Jack Calve. The human growth and aging processes were reviewed, as was the importance of one's spiritual life.

The hostess served a dessert course to those named and to Mesdames Phillip Tsigoloff, Carl Byrnes, Lewis Rains and Miss Ruth Stovanoff. The attendance prize was awarded to Mrs. Tsigoloff who, in turn, donated a vacation souvenir to the club. The gift was won by Mrs. Eblin. Mrs. William Forrest will entertain the chapter at its next meeting when guests will be invited.

35 at Barracks, Auxiliary Lunch

Veterans of World War I, Madison Barracks 34, met at the VFW hall Tuesday for a 12:30 p.m. pot-luck luncheon with Mrs. Vera Schillinger as chairman. Mrs. Georgia Butler, president of the auxiliary, conducted the women's meeting and Clem Rogers, junior vice-commander, presided at the Men's session. Thirty-five members attended the luncheon and business discussion. The next meeting was set for Oct. 5, with Mrs. Grace Branding as luncheon chairman.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Booth

Plans were completed to participate in "Charity Days," Sept. 23-25 at the Nameoki Village Shopping Center by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Tri-City Post 113, at their meeting Wednesday night. Mrs. Loretta Goeller presided, and Mrs. Rose Halbert, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer. Hostess for the social hour was Mrs. Dorothy Kowalk. Prize-winners in the games were Mesdames Augusta Munsterman, Alma Klaus, Rose Halbert and Melba Wade. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Evelyn Ferro.

McKinley PTA Ready to Meet

The executive board of the McKinley School PTA met Tuesday night in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Sadie Bringer, president, conducted the meeting. Reports were submitted and plans were made for the Sept. 14 PTA meeting. The 1970-71 safety patrol thanked the PTA for gifts and treats at the end of school. Those present included Mrs.

Imogene Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. Violet Jeffers, secretary; Mrs. Rowena Mikolazuk, treasurer; Mrs. Gertrude Luebben, safety chairman; Mrs. Susie Flinn and Mrs. Darlene Bravley, hospitality co-chairmen; Mrs. Gladys Templeman and Mrs. Jackie York, Area Council representatives; and Mrs. Lynn Frangoulis, membership chairman. A budget for the year was compiled and will be presented at the first general meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The teaching staff will be introduced by the principal, Gary Pfeender, and patrol girls and boys for this year will be introduced by Mrs. Luebben, a McKinley sixth grade teacher. The executive board will serve refreshment.

CUB ROUNDTABLE SET

A cub scout Roundtable will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at St. Peter's United Church of Christ, 21st street and Cleveland Boulevard with Ron Luebben, Roundtable Commissioner, in charge. U.S. Postal Service Gets a New Look

By PAUL J. WEIS
Copley News Service

The post office has a new look as well as a new name to celebrate its new organizational structure.

A stylized, contemporary American eagle emblem and a new color scheme are the basis of an integrated identification system designed for the postal establishment by Raymond Loewy-Snith, Inc., of New York.

The design plan will be implemented gradually during the year which has been set for the Post Office Department's transition to the U. S. Postal Service, an independent establishment in the executive branch of the government.

A review of the history of the department is in order. The history of the U. S. Postal Service is entwined with that of the country it serves. As early as the Colony of Massachusetts settlers petitioned King Charles for a postal patent. A few years later, the Dutch government organized mail service for its Colony of New Amsterdam.

Dates Back to 1775

A national postal service was established even before the young nation gained its independence from Britain. The postal service was created on July 26, 1775, under the Continental Congress, with Benjamin Franklin serving as the first postmaster general.

Congress established the service on a temporary basis in September, 1789, and it did not become an executive department until June 8, 1872, although the postmaster general had been included in the president's Cabinet since 1820.

In the era before telecommunications, letters played a vital role in the political, economic and social functions of the new republic, for there was no other reliable way of finding out what was going on.

Newspapers of the day were either devoted to partisan causes or were too restricted in their subscriptions to have more than limited local impact. Besides, their distribution was scanty and early postal regulations excluded them from the mails. Mail has a different character today, chiefly through its use for advertising and bill collecting, but it retains its primary function as an informational resource.

Brilliant Coaches

In the early days, the mail coach with its passenger-carrying capacity was the chief means of communication among the towns and villages of the state. The coach, as a vehicle, was first formalized in 1798; it was painted green with the carriage, wheels and rails in bright red. It had black panel decorations and the words "United States Mail Stage" in bright yellow under a spread eagle.

As commerce and prosperity increased in the 19th Century, mail began to be dispatched and delivered in a form we would recognize today. Stamps were introduced and the post office itself became a separate institution rather than an adjunct of a store or inn.

By 1840, mail was being carried by railroad, steamboat, stagecoach, canalboat and by horse and foot messengers.

The Pony Express hastened the development of the West and introduced the idea that "the mail must go through." Strangely enough, it was not until 1859 that the paid post was decreed, although stamps were formally issued in 1847.

Until that time, the addressee paid for his letter. Some refused to pay and a bulk of letters piled up, and this was the origin of the dead letter office in 1828.

Service Expands

The Civil War was, naturally, a nightmare for the postal service. But after it was over, the mails expanded with the country, reducing rates and concentrating on rapid handling. Gradually, other changes took place, although usually in the teeth of an antagonistic Congress.

Rural free delivery was established in 1896, and parcel post a good deal later. The annals of the postal service are fraught with adventure. When yellow fever invaded New York in 1822, the post office business was removed in a wagon to Greenwich Village, then immune to that disease. There are also fascinating accounts of wilderness mail routes—reindeer sleighs and so forth—some of which may still exist.

There were routes across Lake Erie which required ice-breaking sailboats with runners on them in case the ice froze around them.

There was a route in Oregon along a beach with enormous tide variance. If the driver did not leave at exactly the right time on his route he would have to abandon his team and his mail to the seas and scale the nearby cliffs to safety. These and similarly colorful anecdotes are endless.

The achievement of postal service through the years is remarkable, and one must agree with Ralph Waldo Emerson, who said, "The power of a tiny stamp to carry a letter around the world, its contents a secret save only to the writer and the receiver, is a fine proof of human progress."

BRIGHTER MAILBOXES. New look for mailboxes will feature single color scheme and decals bearing new eagle emblem. Decals will be affixed to sides and back of boxes, which will be painted postal service blue. Even collection schedule cards have been redesigned.

Bethel Church Chorus Plans Dinner Saturday

The Young Adult Chorus of Greater Bethel A.M.E. Church, 1035 Market St., Madison, will present a "Summer Fiesta Dinner" at 8 p.m. Saturday at Augustine's Restaurant near Belleville. The event is open to the public.

John Flammer, assistant to Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University—Southwestern campus, will be the principal speaker at the dinner, according to Ronald Harris, general chairman of the event.

Entertainment, following the meal, will include instrumental and vocal music selections performed by local artists, he said. Reservations, costing $5 per person, may be made by calling Harris, at 451-4897.

ST. JOSEPH CUB SCOUT PACK WILL BEGIN YEAR

Cub Pack 768, sponsored by St. Joseph's Catholic Church, held its organizational meeting in the school's pack room, Committee Chairman Joseph Geisler was in charge of the evening's program and welcomed the new members.

Committee members were announced and are: cubmaster, Andy Timko, assistant cubmaster, Lt. Col. Robert Mungovan; chairman, Geisler; treasurer, Jim Perdue; secretary, Mrs. Virginia Buckner; and hospitality chairman, Mrs. Clara Mungovan. Den mothers are Mrs. Jean Stanfill, Den One, and Mrs. Myrna Geisler, Den Two.

Mrs. Geisler demonstrated the correct way to roll and wear the cub scout neckerchief. Mrs. Stanfill explained den meetings, dues and handbook work leading toward badges and arrow points. She announced members of her den, Wesley Stanfill, Richard Buckner, Greg DeKossett, Herman Reiser, Steven Payne, Parry Perdue, John Buhmann and George Buhmann.

Mrs. Geisler told of parent participation in the pack and displayed the pack's book. She urged parents to attend the committee meetings. She said a project for the Christmas holidays will be to fill a food basket.

A new recruiter badge to be awarded to each cub scout bringing a new member into the pack was displayed by Mrs. Geisler. She announced the members of Den Two as Tim Geisler, John DeRuntz, Joseph DeRuntz, Mike Bennett, Robert Mungovan, John Mungovan, Chris Lukaszewicz, Matthew Lukaszewicz and Mark Wal-

First regular pack meeting of the year will be held Thursday, Sept. 30, when the theme will be "Conservation." The meeting ended with the scouts reciting the pledge of allegiance.

CUB PACK 28 WILL WELCOME NEW SCOUTS

Cub Pack 28 of Parkview School will hold its first meeting of the new school year Monday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the school. All boys eight and nine years old who are interested in becoming scouts are being invited to attend; each must be accompanied by a parent.

The pack meeting met Tuesday evening at the school to outline activities for the year. Scouting theme for September will be "Conservation," and the night's program will include a talk on the Lewis and Clark Scouting Trail by Floyd Jordan, who is in charge of the local scout trail.

Jordan will award pilgrimage patches to new members of Den Four who have completed the hike. Mrs. Betty Hackney and Mrs. Vonnies Vilkins are leaders of the den.

Each den will display articles pertaining to the month's theme, and refreshments will be served by the den mothers and pack committee.

Cubmaster is Ed Monahan, and adults desiring to assist with the various activities are to contact him at 876-3867.

ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY OF CHRISTINE COLEMAN

Christine Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coleman, 2237 Klarnay Drive, celebrated her eleventh birthday at a holiday weekend cook-out.

A "mod" theme was used in the party decorations, and a rainbow birthday cake decorated

Grigsby School Entered

A soda machine was priced open in a teachers lounge at Grigsby Junior High School during the weekend and about $10 in change was taken. It was reported Tuesday. Entry to the school was gained by breaking a window.

Arrested for Conduct

Lynia C. Snek, 44, of 2629 Iowa St., was arrested at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday at the Belleme Reese Drug Store on a charge of disorderly conduct.

In bright colors featured a dancing couple and small plastic records. Guests included the honoree's sister, Kimberly, and Leslie Roberts, Susan Range, Kathy Schuler, Terry Schuler and Margaret Lovins.

A family party also was held, with guests including Christine's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kienle, and her aunt, Miss Cheryl Kienle.

FUTURE SLENDERETTES TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

The Future Slenderettes Club met Tuesday night at the East Side Levee Office to plan for an anniversary dinner Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Rusty's.

Mrs. Christine Ersamer was in charge of recording of weights, and measurements were taken by Mrs. Sara Dempsey. The leader, Mrs. Eva Burns, led members in reciting the club pledge.

Mrs. Fern Stephens was presented the jeweled clasp pin and a gift basket of fruit. The club is currently selling candles as a fund project.

Members are to meet at the levee office at 6:30 p.m. next Tuesday for a weigh-in and then will go to the dinner. The Take Off Pounds a Day supervisor, Mrs. Peggy Hackney, will be a special guest at the dinner.

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Villa Ridings, Mrs. Maribeth McConnell, Mrs. Roberta Darraugh and Mrs. Mary Thron.

BUSY FALL IN STORE FOR GIRL SCOUT UNITS

The Neighborhood Two Girl Scout Leaders Association convened for its new scout year Tuesday at Wilson Park followed by a pot luck dinner. Mrs. Doris Wood is chairman of District Four leaders.

Mrs. Wood informed the leaders of the neighborhood's participation in "charity days" at Nameoki Village Sept. 23-25 and of the coming United Fund Fair at Wilson Park Oct. 2-3. Tickets will be sold for the fair by Junior Cadette, and Senior scouts and all money is to be turned in to Mrs. Wood by Sept. 28. Donations for the charity event will be turned in to Mrs. Wood by Sept. 21.

The chairman explained a new insurance policy of the River Bluffs Council for all leaders and registered scouts. Plans were completed for a Junior and Cadette camp-out Sept. 17-19 at Camp Chan-Ya-Ta. A Brownie fun day will be held Sept. 18 at Chan-Ya-Ta with a cook-out, hiking and learning of trail signs.

Fun day reservations and money are to be given by Sept. 10 to Mrs. Alice Milanovic. A bus will leave St. Joseph's at 7:45 a.m. and return at 5:30 p.m.

Also discussed was an arts and crafts session for all District Four leaders at St. John's United Church of Christ Oct. 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The cost is $1.25 and each leader is to bring a sack lunch, scissors, two small paint brushes and tracing paper.

An annual recognition dinner will be hosted by Neighborhood Four leaders at St. John's United Church Oct. 26 at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale and reservations must be in by Oct. 19.

The next association meeting will be Oct. 27 at Emerson School with Prather Junior High leaders as hostesses.

Attending the pot luck dinner were those mentioned and Messdames Pat Rigney, Pat Doty, Norma Walton, Frances Boley, Mary Ann Walker, Jean Edwards, Mary McCabe, Margaret Barton, Lynn King, Betty Cantloni, Maxine Barnstable, Gloria Wofford and guests, Mrs. Carol Mohon and Timmy Barton.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watkins, 2643 Edwards St., celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary during the holiday weekend at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Glosiek at their summer resort at Lake Timberline, Mo. The Watkins and their children, Gary, Mike, Danny, Kay Ann and Nancy, were among guests of the Glosieks. Another daughter, Gail, was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins—she is the former Jackie Lynn—were married in Holly Springs, Miss., at the Methodist Church, a historical place used by General Grant during the Civil War as a place for housing slaves.

Another local couple, Mr. and Mrs. Libero Trione, 3028 Marshall Ave., was married at the same time in a double wedding ceremony with the Watkins; the couples were attendants for each other.

Also present for the celebration were the hosts' children, Tina Marie and J. J., and Mrs. Glosiek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wilson.

50-MILE SCOUT HIKE

Several members of Boy Scout Troop 20, which meets weekly at Webster School, completed a 50-mile hike over the Labor Day weekend, accompanied by Assistant Scoutmaster John Chapline and Committeeman Keith Harris. Scoutmaster of the troop is Tom Watkins.

The hike totaled a little more than the required 50 miles and included walks through Old Riley, Massacre Trail and Pecanabas, and then Grand Fork, Marine, Edwardsville and Glen Carbon.

Chapline and five of the scouts, Senior Patrol Leader Kevin Kearns, Charles Roller, Eddie Bertrand, Kenny Bertrand and Jim Creek, will receive 50-mile hiker patches at an award presentation tonight. This is the second such award for the troop; last year, it completed hiker qualifications.

CORONATION BY CLUB

The Destination Kops Club crowned its leader, Mrs. Vernie Von Nida, as queen of the week Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Billi Bagl, 3110 Harvard Place. She was presented a tiara and club prizes.

Mrs. Bagl conducted roll call and pledges were led by the co-leader, Mrs. Ruth Stover. Mrs. Von Nida said a booklet by the founder, Mrs. Esther Manz, and a Take Off Pounds Sensibly charter have been received.

Plans were made for a costume Halloween party Oct. 25 and the members discussed a round-robin "teletone" that was started. Each member will receive at least two phone calls a week as an added incentive for weight loss. The leader read a poem which she had written, "Corra," and an article by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, "Believe in Yourself."

Mrs. Stover read the club motto and a social period was held at Ravanelli's restaurant. Others present were Mrs. Alice Selph, Mrs. Linda Miles, Mrs. Carol Williams and Mrs. Verna Michel. The next meeting will be at the Bagl home Sept. 13.

SENIOR GIRL SCOUTS SELECT NEW OFFICERS

An election was held at the first 1971-72 meeting of Senior Girl Scout Troop 1177 with the advisor, Mrs. Joan Oram, 2004 Wilson Ave., in her home Tuesday evening. Phyllis Barnes is president, Rita Ahlers vice-president, Sharon Duke secretary and Deana Oram, treasurer.

Selected as representatives on the Senior planning board were Misses Barnes and Sharon Duke; the board meetings are to be held at the River Bluffs Council office in Edwardsville. Alternates chosen were Karen Lee and Wanda Stack.

The local troop will host an installation tea of the new planning board, at the Hope Lutheran Church Sept. 12. Outgoing officers of Troop 1177 are Linda Oram, president, and Nancy Hodge, vice-president.

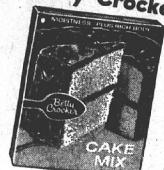

Plans were made to attend a rodeo in Steelville, Mo., in September and to operate a booth at Charity Days at Nameoki Village Sept. 23-25. The booth will feature hand-made articles, books and white elephant items. Also on the agenda for Senior Scouts this year is painting of shelters at Camp Torque Oct. 11 and coordination of the annual "festival of giving" program for Neighborhood Three. The troop voted to retain Miss Linda Oram as an associate member; she recently graduated from Granite City High School and completed her final year in scouting.

Other scouts present were Karen Duke and Juanita Oram.

ATTEND HAYNES PARTY
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodell and son, Stanley, of Granite City and Mrs. Martha Forsheue of Madison, were among the guests last week at a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes in Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary.

SUGGESTION WINNER. Mrs. Kathleen N. Healy, Granite City, employed at the Army's Mobility Equipment Command (MECOM), is awarded a Department of the Army certificate and $10 check for the adoption of a suggestion she submitted to simplify administrative procedures in the office of the Comptroller, Finance and Accounting Division, where she is employed. Lieutenant Colonel Michael J. Dooley, comptroller, presents the award at special ceremonies. Mrs. Healy's supervisor, M. A. Hoffman, witnesses the presentation. Mrs. Healy lives at 2301 St. Bernard Ave.

Master's Degree in Planning at SIU-SW

SIU-SW has been given the go-ahead to award a master degree in city and regional planning by the Illinois Board of Higher Education. Approval by the state board came Wednesday at a meeting in Chicago. The two-year course of study will require 72 credit hours for completion and will be a part of the earth sciences faculty offerings in the Division of Social Sciences. The two-year course is in keeping with recommendations and accreditation requirements by the American Institute of Planners. For the degree in planning, the curriculum will include internships for students with metropolitan agencies. The program is expected draw students from major fields such as biology, economics, engineering, geography, government and sociology. The master degree in city and regional planning was approved by the SIU board of Trustees in February.

Famed Women Artists to Exhibit Crafts At Niedringhaus Art Festival Saturday

Mrs. Belle Cramer, famous St. Louis artist born in New York and educated in Europe, Virginia Leverington, artist, potter and craftsman of the St. Charles Artist Guild and Missouri Valley Artist's and Craftsman Association, and Sharon Giacomo, outstanding batik artist and sculpturer, will be present with exhibits of their work at the Art Festival at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Each of the artists has donated several pieces of their specific type of art which will be auctioned at 3 p.m.

Miss Marguerite Barker, local artist and elementary teacher at Niedringhaus School has donated many pieces of art to be sold at the Women's Society booth, as has Siegfried Reinhardt, noted St. Louis artist who donated one of his original etchings to be sold at auction.

Mrs. Cramer, who is 87, is world renowned as an artist, having had many shows in London, New York and St. Louis where her work has been displayed at the Painters Gallery. Her paintings hang in 65 St. Louis collections and in museums, homes and colleges from New York to Los Angeles.

Studied at Edinburgh Every day since 1900 she has been at her easel from 9 a.m. Annual Student Art Show at College of Art and continued her work in London where she and her husband, the late Dr. William Cramer, lived from 1915 until 1939.

The most influential peer in her life was Paul Barin. She studied with Barin, one of the first abstract expressionists, at the University of California at Los Angeles, but far more crucial than his classes was what Mrs. Cramer calls her liberation.

"He freed me to be myself, he showed me I could do whatever I wanted."

The noted St. Louis artist met her husband, Dr. Cramer, a cancer specialist, in Switzerland. He died in 1945. They had two sons, Ian and Michael. Both reside in the St. Louis area.

Won Numerous Awards
Virginia Leverington, is an artist and art instructor who has exhibited throughout the state of Missouri, winning numerous awards for her pottery.

Her work has been on display at Famous-Barr Co. in St. Louis, Twig and Leaf in St. Charles and in Springfield, Sedalia and Kansas City, and at many other art shows.

Mrs. Leverington goes into the woods in the spring and fall and gathers all types and shapes of toadstools and mushrooms. From these she makes her models and creates a fantasy land of lady bugs in mushroom houses. She will demonstrate her techniques at the Art Festival.

Sharon Giacomo of Glen Carbon, a talented sculpturer and batik artist, is a student at SIU-SW and plans to leave soon for Italy where she will continue her education.

Mr. Giacomo studied batik under Catherine Milovich and has had batiks selected for the Annual Student Art Show at SIU. "Batik is an Indonesian method of hand-printing textiles by coating with wax the parts not to be dyed. After the fabric has been dyed, the substance is removed, leaving the color of the fabric showing through.

SHARON GIACOMO, a talented sculpturer and batik artist from Glen Carbon, will exhibit several pieces of batik work she has prepared while studying at SIU-SW campus, at the Art Festival at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Saturday.

ST. LOUIS ARTIST and instructor in arts and crafts who will demonstrate her unusual talent for using toadstools and mushrooms in creating a fantasyland of lady bugs in mushroom houses during the Art Festival at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Her work includes batiks stretched like canvas and mixed with medias and batik combined with stitchery or painting. Miss Giacomo has designed fabric for clothing and will have several items of clothing she has designed on display at the Art Festival.

In the event inclement weather would prevent display of art objects on the parking lot the entire festival will be shown in Westley Hall at the church.

Artists who wish to participate in the show may obtain more information by calling 876-4451.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY OF BETH ELLEDGE
Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Pyles entertained with a weekend party in honor of their granddaughter, Beth Elledge, for her sixth birthday. She was presented a birthday cake and gifts.

Refreshments were served to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elledge, her brother, Steven, and Mr. and Mrs. Butch Pyles and son, David, Mrs. Sally Bauer and Randy Pyles.

GUEST SPEAKER
Mr. and Mrs. Gary Chilton and children, Brenda and Bryan, had as guest this week her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Daniels of Springfield, Mo. On Sunday, Rev. Daniels was guest speaker at both the morning and evening services at the Word of Life Tabernacle.

The Junior High Group of the Pontoon Baptist Church was in charge of a fellowship social hour Sunday evening following the evening worship hour. Refreshments were served.

INSTALLATION BANQUET
The Daytime Missionary Circle of Cedar View Baptist Church met at the church. After singing of "Stand Up for Jesus," Mrs. Eyrnell Cameron offered prayer and Mrs. Marian Riddle gave the love gift theme, "Just Looking."

The devotion was by Mrs. Mary Ellen Lewis on "Works." The program was followed by a business session and final plans were made for a banquet to be held Oct. 7 in connection with installation of officers. Others present were Jean Gosnell, Peggy Baggett, Kathryn Creasy, Ida Smith and Pauline York.

ST. ANN'S SOCIETY RESUMES MEETINGS

St. Ann's Altar Society of St. Mary's Catholic Church met with the president, Mrs. Julia Goclan, for its first session of the new year. The group did not meet in the summer months. The Rev. Sylvester Mickel spoke after offering prayer. He discussed funeral rites which will be utilized in November and spoke on a convention in Springfield, reporting that at least one member from each parish should attend the meeting.

Twenty-two members were served refreshments by Mrs. Frances Owca and Mrs. Helen Papa. Mrs. Ida Dant received the evening's prize.

Mrs. Frances Pasek, Mrs. Barbara Planitz, Mrs. Helen

Romanic and Mrs. Mary Pogorlac will be the Oct. 6 hostesses.

Plans were completed for a social to be held at the school hall on Nov. 14.

MRS. KULA IS WINNER

Mrs. Helen Hintner was hostess to the Po-Ke-No Club in her home, 1635 Spruce St. The club has started holding meetings regularly again after the summer vacation.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Veronica Kula, Mrs. Cecelia Spinks, Mrs. Netie Gnojewski, Mrs. Helen Krawicki, Mrs. Hazel Swigert and Mrs. Pat Gerken.

Games were played prior to the noon hour, when the group enjoyed dinner at a restaurant and then returned to the home for another game session. Mrs. Kula was winner for the day.

MADISON JR. SERVICE TO BEGIN WORK YEAR

Mrs. Elvera Stagner president of the Madison Junior Service Club, held a board session in her home. Projects of the club were discussed by Mesdames June Barham, Julia Voloski, Shirley Clark, Adrienne Warchol, Rita Barnhart, Doris Paterson, Billie Bosworth and Jean Vogell.

The books were audited for the new working year which will begin Tuesday, Sept. 14. Meetings will continue to be held at the Madison Recreation Center on the second Tuesday of each month.

The group discussed a booth it will have at the Charity Day event Sept. 23, 24 and 25. It was announced that Mrs. Warchol and Mrs. Rita Lybarger will be the hostesses on Sept. 14.

JOHN YURKO OBSERVE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Yurko, 1021 Alton Ave., Madison, observed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday. Dinner was served at the Round Table, Collinsville, to the immediate families, including their daughters.

The couple was married at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berkening as the attendants.

Present at the dinner were Mrs. Andrew Yurko, Mrs. Bernice Briza and sons, Mr. and Mrs. George Mikulak and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Cesar Kaiser, the Rev. Sylvester Mickel, the Rev. Engelbert Blesek, the Rev. Conrad Motola and the Rev. Michael Wernsing.

Gifts were presented and the group went to the Yurko home after the dinner. Refreshments were served later by the honored couple.

MADISON BAND PARENTS SCHEDULE FIRST MEET

Madison Band Parents will hold their first meeting of the new school year Monday evening at the Madison Junior High School home economics room, with Mrs. Mae Hendrickson as president.

The president, Mrs. Mae Hendrickson, vice-president, Mrs. Evelyn Holt, secretary, Gene Holt, and treasurer, Harold Pisk, have been in contact with William Ledbetter, band director of the Madison schools, and are encouraging all parents of band students to attend.

Refreshments will be served. Fund projects will be discussed as well as other topics relating to the band.

TWO HONORED BY CLUB

The Ship Shape Club Take Off Pounds Sensibly met Tuesday evening at the Polish Hall with Mrs. Yvonne Passig as leader. The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance and the club pledge.

Mrs. Wilma Arbeiter was named queen of the week and Cynthia Bargiel queen of the month. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Marie Bryant and Mrs. Passig.

Low-calorie diets were discussed and members told how they had lost weight.

Mrs. Geneva Hill read an article, "What is Topsy?" Mrs. Helen Townes, Mrs. Juanita Harrington, Mrs. Alice Baumberger and Mrs. Passig will be the October hostesses.

Others in attendance were Mesdames Jackie Gattung, Lorene Gremada, Betty Allen, Elizabeth Bucher, Pauline Holman, Kathy Dohnal, Helen Baran, Rosalie Harris, Brenda O'Bea.

Mesdames Vivian Allen, Carol Peach, Susie Deirich, Dorothy Graklanoff, Lynette Arbeiter, Linda Carmann, Shirley Couver, Adrienne Warchol, Bernice Crimmins, Virginia Melichar, Loretta Bargiel, Candace Chamberlain, Theresa Padgett and Ruth Smith.

MRS. ROGERS HOSTESS TO PAST NOBLES CLUB

Mrs. Leora Rogers was hostess to the Past Noble Grand Club of the Delray 786 Rebekah Lodge in her home, 2260 Iowa St., Tuesday evening. Mrs. Altha Gray was co-hostess.

Mrs. Erma Graves had made a number of ditty bags and presented each member with several to be filled and returned at the next meeting. A social evening followed the business meeting.

The hostess served refreshments to Mesdames Pearl Serini, Ruth Hannebrink, Dorothy Gregory, Estella McBrien, Elsie Vance, Lucille Veach, Thelma Stockton, Leo Mae Salmon Dale Ave., for the October meeting. Mrs. Graves will be the co-hostess.

Enrico Caruso Inspired By Neapolitan Mother

Editor's Note: Enrico Caruso, 1873-1921, an impoverished Neapolitan whose golden voice led him to the Metropolitan Opera where he was a favorite for 17 seasons. This is another in a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

By BETT ANDERSON
Copy News Service

When he was only 13, Enrico Caruso was the best teen-aged contralto in Naples.

He sang all the time while watching the blue water in the local bay, while strolling barefoot in the filthy streets of Naples, while working in a factory for two cents an hour.

To his father, it was catering. But, to his mother, it was music from heaven. She sang at festivals and to pay for his singing lessons.

When his mother died, 15-year-old Enrico decided to devote all of his time to music. He had no money so he had to take all kinds of jobs. Some were groovy, some a drag. He sang at festivals at churches and on the streets.

Crowds would gather and throw him money. He went into the serenading business and became a sort of proxy Romeo. For 20 cents an evening, he would sing outside a girl's window while her love sickly dozed. Once the girl was in a romantic mood, Enrico would quietly steal away. Enrico's father in Naples who didn't encourage the boy singing. The old man wanted his son to be a mechanic as he was. They argued, yelled and shook their fists at each other in approved Neapolitan style. Enrico packed his duds and stormed out of the house. Now he was on his own.

Enrico's first real engagement was in the local church of Sant' Anna alle Palude for special Tuesday services. Each week he sang the same litany a hundred times for which he earned the magnificent sum of 40 cents. Nevertheless, he was happy. At 16, he was finally doing his own thing.

Enrico was grudgingly accepted for voice lessons by a teacher named Vergine. For some reason, he pretended to be unimpressed by the teenager's golden voice. He criticized every note. Perhaps he had an ulterior motive. For he drew up a contract which called for Enrico to pay him a large commission on all his earnings for the first five years that he actually sang for pay. He must have known then that Enrico Caruso would one day be a Metropolitan Opera star and the idol of the music world, as well as the public.

Canned Heat Returns with Hot Live Album

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

The promotion of a group or an individual in the recording business is something else again. For example, one receives leather pouches, balloons, plastic odds and ends and sometimes cash.

Yes, cash, but in this case it just happened to be very appropriate, because Canned Heat had just released their newest, yet out-of-date album, "Live in Europe", for United Artists.

Although there have been some necessary changes made in the group since the death of Al Wilson and the splitting of Harvey Mandel, Canned Heat is still going strong. It took a good seven years of hard work for the old Heat to finally produce a live album that demonstrates their power on stage. However, "Live in Europe" is only a sneak preview to what is happening with the group now on the concert tour.

The best way to describe Canned Heat is to say that it is a well-rounded group that has an enormous background in all types of contemporary music. Their ability to mix and match the blues, pop, rock and country enables them to come up with a very distinctive style.

Taking a look at the personnel which makes up the group, you find lead singer Bob "The Bear" Hite, Henry "Sunflower" Vestine on the guitar, "Fito" De La Parra on the drums, Antonio De La Barreda on bass guitar and Joel Scott Hill playing rhythm guitar.

Big, bearded Bob had dreams of being in show business for years before he finally made the break. When very young he began collecting soda bottles to redeem for his favorite records. That collection, which has grown to 70,000 records, was what finally introduced him into the music business.

"I used to set for hours watching the records spin on the turntable," he recalls. "The grooves fascinated me, and it has yet to cease. At that time I wanted to own a record store, but it seems rather far removed now."

Going back to the record collection, Hite said his big break came one day when he met the late Alan Wilson at a friend's house who was also a collector. This meeting led to the formation of a jug band and even though it was still rough around the edges, it made its debut at the Ash Grove in Los Angeles, Calif. It didn't take Bob long to gain the musical knowledge that has enabled him to become one of the finest interpreters, singers and writers of the blues.

He recently bought a home in Topanga Canyon, Calif., where he spends most of his free time with his family and, of course, his mammoth record collection.

Henry is also a renowned bluesman, who has strummed his guitar in almost every type of gig, from fraternity parties to blues sessions in the Deep South.

Born on Christmas Day in Washington, D. C., Henry has traveled continuously across the United States, picking up and listening to other people's style of music.

He claims that these experiences have been the reason for his success, since they have led to his understanding of the emotions and social implications behind the music he deals out.

In his spare time Vestine collects antique motorcycles and the blues, pop, rock and country enables them to come up with a very distinctive style.

Drummer Fito was born in Mexico, where he played with some of the biggest Mexican groups of the last decade. Heat discovered him finally when he was playing his first gig in the U. S. in a small club in Torrance, Calif.

At the moment, Fito is in a hassle with the U. S. Army about his conscientious objector status, but hopes to work things out so that he can continue to beat his skins with Canned Heat, of which he says, "I was born to play with these band, man."

Tony was also born in Mexico, where he started playing the bass guitar at the age of 17. Fito and Tony worked together for five years with a band called The Sinners. When the band broke up and Fito went with Heat, Tony joined with a group called The Good Times, who backed the Monkees on their live gigs.

Tony has worked with such greats as The Shirelles, The Platters, Johnny Rivers and Ike and Tina Turner, which explains the excitement he creates now with Canned Heat.

The latest addition to Heat is Joel, who has brought the band a new enjoyable sound. He has a husky, bluesy voice to go along with his expert guitar playing.

Born in San Diego, Calif., Joel has actually worked with Canned Heat for some time, filling in when necessary. When coupled with Bob, their sound makes Canned Heat a product that can't be overlooked.

ALL ABOUT ALBUMS
"This is Benny Goodman," (RCA), is a 2-record set that contains all the original recordings, not "re-creations," of vocalist Ella Fitzgerald and such sidemen as Bunny Berigan, Harry James, Ziggy Elman, Gene Krupa and Lionel Hampton. "Stompin' at the Savoy," "Moonlight" and "One O'Clock Jump" are a sampling of the fine tunes included in this set.

Attention jazz lovers: United Artists has released a 2-yne Shorter's new album, "Odyssey of Issa." A whiz on the tenor and soprano sax, Shorter has a not one here with cuts that include "Calm," "Storm," "De Pois Do Amor," "Vazio." Robin Wilson is making her debut on A&M with "Ain't That Something."

It shouldn't take long for her to catch on, with her fine voice making good music out of cuts like "Just Say Goodbye" and "I Can't Make It Anymore."

Hospital Insurance Dropped at SIU Campus

Southern Illinois University authorities at Carbondale have announced that group student hospital insurance will not be available this fall because of conditions imposed by the company.

Emil Spees, associate dean of Student Services at Carbondale, said the student hospital policy carrier, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, has insisted any new group policy must be mandatory for all students. Spees said both the SIU board of trustees and elected student government officials have opposed mandatory hospital insurance.

McKendree College to Offer Night Classes

McKendree College will offer night school classes in five areas this fall, according to registrar James Manke. The largest course offering is in art, with courses scheduled in beginning figure, beginning painting, advanced drawing, advanced painting, and a seminar in 19th and 20th Century art. Business law and money & banking constitute the fall term offering in business-economics, and basic modern math and statistics are offered in mathematics.

Political theory, ancient and medieval, will be taught. McKendree band members also will be taught in the night school.

Classes in the night-school program start Sept. 15, at 6:30 p.m. in the day-time liberal arts school. Registrations still are being accepted, and fall information, course descriptions and schedules are available from Walter A. Smith, director of admissions, McKendree College, Lebanon, 62254.

Russ Cherry Elected Head of Roca Club

Russ Cherry has been elected president of the Roca Young Men's Club and will be installed at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Moose Lodge.

Those elected were Monte Lyons, vice-president; Willie Christopher, secretary; Tom Vrenick, treasurer; and Gene Doyle, first director. Members reviewed and accepted the new club constitution prepared by Mike Jesse and Harry Diak, club advisers, at a special meeting Sunday.

Three Receive Degrees At SIU-Carbondale

Three areas were graduated from Southern Illinois University in ceremonies held Friday at Carbondale.

They are Michael Kawula, 1512 Clark Ave., bachelor of arts; Barbara Susan Sabn, 12 Mercer Drive, bachelor of arts; and Jo Ann Summerford, 1625 Sycamore Ave.

Four Make EIU Honors

Four area students received academic honors for the summer quarter at Eastern Illinois University. With high honors were Mary E. Harris and Kathleen Willis of Granite City. With honors were Joseph W. Straka III of Granite City and Ruth A. Mischke of Madison.

Makes Honor List

Donald Thomas Butch, 3505 Johnson Road, has made the honor list for the summer session at the University of Missouri-Rolla.

State Roadside Stops Damaged by Vandals

By JOAN MURRAY
Copley News Service
SPRINGFIELD — Vandals in recent weeks have destroyed three restroom facilities in state-maintained roadside rest stops along major Illinois routes.

Because of the destruction, and regular, extensive defacement of others, the state department of public works and buildings is considering switching to metal units in all such stops were attendants are not on duty.

A department spokesman said the structures which have been destroyed by burning cost about $3500 each and house only toilet facilities without running water.

At one site, investigation showed that the structure had been doused with gasoline or kerosene before being ignited.

In none of the cases is it believed the fires were accidental, since all the wood structures are treated with fire-proofing materials and would not burn merely from a carelessly lit cigarette or other natural accidental cause.

If adopted, the metal structures would cost about the same amount initially, $3500 to $5000, depending on current steel prices when the structures are built.

In addition to being impervious to arson, the spokesman said, the metal structures would be easier and cheaper to maintain, since they would not require painting.

Painting and repairing of existing wooden facilities is a constant, major job, he said, because of the speed with which the painted walls become covered with drawings and other graffiti.

Currently, there are 66 such rest stop facilities in pairs and three additional single structures along Illinois Interstate routes.

Meanwhile, construction is continuing on more elaborate facilities in a program intended to produce 28 pairs and four single rest stop sites along major Illinois routes by 1975.

These facilities, which will vary in design at different sites, include a lobby as well as flush toilets, running water, heat, light and air-conditioning. They will be staffed with attendants to provide information and tourist assistance to visitors.

Ultimate plans call for such facilities roughly every 50 miles along Interstate routes. One of the more unusual ones now under construction is located on I-74 west of Peoria, where a pagoda-shaped roof is being built on the ground and then will be lifted into place by cranes, to top the wood and stone buildings.

Bi-State Grant for Fare Trial Refused

An application for a Demonstration Grant that would have enabled the Bi-State Transit System to institute a six-month trial of reduced rates on the system's buses for senior citizens has been turned down by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the Department of Transportation.

In a letter to St. Louis Mayor A. J. Cervantes, informing him of the turn-down, Bi-State Development Agency Chairman Robert S. Knapp said: "We are naturally disappointed that our application was not favorably considered, but are still prepared to cooperate with you in finding a mutually acceptable way of instituting a reduced fare program." Included with the letter were suggested alternative approaches and plans.

100 Building Permits

List $1,181,201 Values
One hundred building permits listing values totaling $1,181,201 were issued for new construction in unincorporated areas of Madison County during August, it was reported by Jack R. Clifford, county building official.

Included were 54 homes, $1,053,900; 38 additions and garages, $61,301; and five for commercial purposes, $66,000. In addition, three permits were issued to raze structures.

Laser Beams May Be Answer to State's Filing Problem

By BOB ESTILL
Copley News Service
Springfield—Laser Beams? That's strictly a Buck Rogers' gimmick for vaporizing villains, right?

Not any more. Science and industry today are putting laser beams to more consecutive uses in computer systems and record-keeping, and Secretary of State John W. Lewis' staff is cautiously but increasingly interested.

Unlike Buck Rogers, Lewis' problem lies in inner—not outer—space. With more than 7 million licensed drivers in the state to keep tab on, the secretary's office is rapidly running out of space to keep all those records and is unhappy with the slowness in retrieving information under the present system.

The more than 40 million documents pertaining to those drivers are stored in 100 electronic-powered filing cabinets and are being increasingly crowded every day.

"If you took all those documents and stacked them on top of each other flatly, you'd have a pile of paper stretching three miles into the atmosphere," said Frank Hartley, director of office operations for the drivers' license division.

A Tall Stack
That stack would be 15 times as tall as Chicago's largest skyscraper, the 1,456 foot tall John Hancock Center.

The information stored in those files also is contained in 25 computer tapes. The computers keep track on such things as when a motorist is due for a re-examination or has picked up a traffic violation.

In the latter instance, for example, a computer might note a driver has a second violation and "beep-beep" a signal he should be sent a warning that a third violation could cost his license, Hartley explained.

That's fine—as far as it goes. But they still need the master file of the documents. The problem is they're running out of filing space, and retrieval of documents is time consuming. It takes only a few seconds to get them from the files but it can take from 15 minutes on up to get the records where they're needed.

"Those filing machines are costly and so heavy they have to be stored at ground level," Hartley explained.

Need Information Quickly
"Plus, when we have to have information, we need it now. When somebody comes in with a problem or question, we can't tell them to come back tomorrow."

The files were purged of some unneeded documents to buy some time, now rapidly running out.

By September of next year, we'll be in deep trouble," Hartley said.

The various systems being studied use a focused laser beam to vaporize (or burn) minute holes in the metallic surface of the strip.

By precise control of the beam, it can be turned off and on or modulated so a meaningful pattern is generated on the strip by areas which are either vaporized or not vaporized as the strip moves under the focusing lenses.

If using laser beams to keep records seems to be a bit 21st Centuryish, it should be noted scientists are currently experimenting with a system to shoot information into space via the beams and bring it back when needed.

Bicycles are Pedaling To Peak of Popularity

By JEFF CUSHING
Copy News Service

His brow beaded with perspiration, New York rad salesman Harvey Wilcox negotiated his bike through the traffic jam of morning traffic and up to the curb in front of his Madison Avenue office building.

Into the elevator and up to the 37th floor went Wilcox, his bike and seven other passengers. Opening wide the door to his office, Wilcox leaned the bike against the wall, removed his hat and coat and went about his job.

"A couple of years ago I would probably have been laughed off the streets and the building guard would not doubt have forbidden me to ride the elevator with my bike," said Wilcox. "But today I'm far from alone. In fact, the other day I was caught in a bicycle traffic jam, something I thought would never come to pass. Not even in New York. Wilcox is more or less typical of a growing breed of Americans who are turning to the bicycle as a form of transportation. Some use bikes for pleasure, others for business, but the fact that bicycles are being used at all is a phenomenon of sorts.

Sales Growing
"Sales have been growing like Topsy," said distributor Ed Marin. Estimates on how many bicycles are currently plying the roads of America are virtually impossible, but in support of the fact that bike sales are indeed up is the recent move by Schwinn to keep assembly lines running 17 hours a day to keep pace with current demand.

"I get orders from dealers for bikes that won't even be delivered to me for a month or more," said Marin. "This sort of thing never used to happen." While all bike sales are now on the upswing, the big market is in the multispeed lightweight bikes costing anywhere from $75 to $400.

"For $75 you can get a fairly decent 10-speed that will perform adequately," explained bike dealer Daniel Mesurik. "For $350 you can get a really fine racing machine, the Rolls Royce of the bicycle world, you might say."

A $300 bike will probably be manufactured in Europe, although the U. S. Schwinn's top-of-the-line Paramount might also qualify. It may weigh as little as 20 pounds thanks to the use of superstrong Reynolds 831 tubing, alloy hubs and aluminum rims. The derailleur (a device that moves the chain from gear sprocket to gear sprocket at the rear wheel) will probably be made by Campagnolo of Italy.

"The more expensive the bike, the better the construction. That's a general rule of thumb to go by," said Mesurik. "But for the initiated cyclist, it is not hard to pay too much for too little."

Multispeeds the Rage
Multispeeds might be all the rage, but the smaller, collapsible bikes are also garnering fans these days. Used primarily for urban commuting, they can be transported easily in the trunk of an auto.

"I thought about buying a 10-speed bike," said secretary Janice Bolton, "but decided that I didn't want to bike all the way to work. So I bought a collapsible bike, keep it in my car and park fairly near the office and ride the bike the rest of the way. It's worked out just fine."

And a U. S. Navy pilot recently picked up a collapsible bike to take with him on his duty cruise to Vietnam. An avid cyclist, he planned to unpack his bike at ports of call and see the sights.

"I've been biking as long as I can remember," he said before his carrier put to sea. "I wasn't about to let a little thing like an 8-month cruise stop me."

About the only thing that can really stop a cyclist—he seems undaunted by bad weather, poor roads or rude motorists—is having his bike stolen. Accurate figures on just how many bicycles are stolen are sketchy, but they soar into the millions of dollars each year.

Many Thefts
Statistics nationwide indicate that there is little that can be done to stave off the thefts, although bicycle manufacturers keep coming up with devices to slow down—if not stop—a thief in his tracks. There are fork locks and wheel locks. There are case-hardened chains that withstand cutting tools.

"The problem is," confided one New York City police investigator, "if a thief can't make off with the bike itself, he'll just remove everything that isn't chained down. When the owner returns, all he finds is a wheel or maybe a frame still locked up. Everything else is just plain gone."

Bike owners have their own methods of thwarting thieves. One San Diego, Calif., secretary who rides her 10-speed Raleigh six miles to the office each day, chains her bike to a post in the company garage. But she doesn't stop there; she then removes the seat and pedals.

"A thief would really look suspicious pushing a seatless, pedalless bike down the street," she reasoned.

New Problems

The bicycle boom has led to a whole new problem for city planners, who are being urged to set up special routes for cyclists like those found throughout Europe. In Washington, D. C., where they are some 6,000 regular bicycle commuters—the city government is conducting a census among riders to set up special rush-hour lanes among major arteries.

Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley pedaled around town not long ago to initiate the beginning of a bike trail that will eventually cover some 250 miles.

And in the Southern California community of Davis, near Los Angeles, a bicycle-conscious city council has opened several bike paths and more are promised.

Perhaps the most novel approach, however, has been taken by the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District which is the only route across the harbor and bike riders are not allowed on the level span.

BALANCING ACT. The bicycle is being 'rediscovered' by everyone from commuters in business suits to casual lovers in bathing suit. Bike sales are up and the hottest thing on the market is the European-style multispeed lightweight.

The San Francisco Bay Bridge is the only route across the harbor and bike riders are not allowed on the level span. The freeways and bridges are some of the worst enemies of cyclists. Often shut off from direct routes, a three-mile trip by car can become a 10-mile trek by bike.

"I can really be a hassle," said one long-time cyclist. "One day you find the route you've been taking for years is being torn up for a freeway. You look around for an alternative route and there is none. All you can do is turn around and peddle back the other way."

112 Births Last Month Highest This Year

A record number of births for any single month this year was recorded during August in the Quad-City area, although total births for the year are slightly below the number for the same period of 1970, according to statistics released this week by Robert Stevens, city clerk.

A total of 112 births was recorded here last month, compared to 107 in July and 94 in August 1970. The total was the highest since December 1970 when 120 children were born here. The total for the first eight months of the year is 792, slightly below the 825 births recorded in the same period last year.

The number of deaths here fell from 38 in July to 29 last month. The record low number for the year was set in May with only 27 deaths here. A total of 44 deaths was reported in the Quad-City area in June, the highest monthly total of 1971.

The August total exceeds the August 1970 total of 27 by two. A total of 295 deaths was reported here in the first eight months of the year, slightly below the 309 in the same period of last year.

One fetal death was reported last month, bringing the total for the year to 11, or three more than in the same period of 1970 in which only eight fetal deaths were noted.

R. W. Montgomery in National Steel Post

Roy W. Montgomery, has been named assistant to the vice-president-engineering, National Steel Corporation, it was announced by R. Milton Deaner, vice president-engineering.

In his new position, Montgomery will be responsible for the coordination of engineering activities for several National Steel divisions and subsidiaries.

Born in Toronto, Ohio, in 1936, Montgomery was employed briefly at National's Weirton Steel Division before attending Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. Following his graduation from Ohio University in 1961 with a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering, he began his engineering career with the Surface Combustion Division of Midland-Ross Corporation as an erection engineer.

Montgomery rejoined the Weirton Steel Division of National Steel in 1963 as a staff engineer. In 1967, he became a project engineer on National Steel's headquarters staff in Pittsburgh, the position he held prior to his current advancement.

Madison Youths Collect For Muscular Dystrophy

Seven Madison youngsters collected a total of $75.03 for the Muscular Dystrophy fund Monday in conjunction with the annual Jerry Lewis telethon.

The young volunteers, Gale, Daphne and Jimmy Chastain, Debbie Gorka, Mark McMurray, Nita Hand and Eddie Davis, collected the money by going door to door in their neighborhood.

The youngsters decided to double the amount they collected last year and accomplished the feat in a day-long project.

HOME HEATING

- If you have a forced warm air heating system, check the filters at least twice a year. Clogged, dirty filters prevent the free flow of clean air, and increase gas usage. Also, lubricate the fan and motor bearings once a year.
- If you have a hot water system, oil the bearings of the circulating pump once a year. Also, it may be necessary to drain the expansion tank from time to time.
- Radiators should be vented from time to time to keep them from becoming air-bound.
- Have a qualified heating contractor examine your chimney and flue pipe once a year to make certain they are in good condition and free of blockage.
- Keep fireplace damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.
- Use storm windows and doors to eliminate drafts and save on gas.
- Don't block radiators or registers with furniture or drapes.
- Don't fiddle with thermostat. Most people prefer to maintain an indoor temperature of 70 degrees. Your heating costs will increase by about 3% for every degree above 70 degrees. Also, a furnace will not heat a chilly house any faster if set at 80 degrees than if set at 70 degrees.
- Install weather stripping around loose-fitting doors and windows. However, don't put weather stripping or storm windows on furnace room windows as you need a constant supply of air in the area where your furnace is located.
- A thick blanket of insulation beneath the roof or attic floor reduces gas usage. This investment normally pays for itself in a few years through lower heating bills.
- Raise the humidity in the living quarters by using mechanical humidifier or by setting containers of water on warm air registers or radiators. Lower temperatures are more comfortable when humidity is high.

COOKING

- Use less water in cooking vegetables. You get more food value and use less gas.
- Before turning burner on, set the pan on the range.
- Turn the flame to LOW when food starts to cook. Turn the burner OFF immediately when finished.
- Use small burner for small pan. Don't let flame lick up outside of any pan.
- Keep range burners and pilot light clean. Don't use lye or strong chemicals on aluminum parts.
- Use a LOW temperature setting for roasting. This reduces meat shrinkage and saves gas.
- Don't cover your oven racks with aluminum foil. If you cover the bottom of the oven, don't cover the holes. This blocks air circulation to the oven burners.

WATER HEATING

- A dripping hot water faucet can waste gallons of water and plenty of gas. Be sure faucets turn off completely. Repair faucets that won't.
- When drawing warm water, draw from both the hot and cold faucets to get the desired temperature.
- Keep thermostat at the LOW heat setting. Turn to HIGH about 1/2 hour before doing laundry. Turn control to LOW when laundry is finished.

CLOTHES DRYING

- Never overload your clothes dryer.
- Don't overdry clothes.
- Damp dry clothes that require ironing.
- Permanent press clothes that are dried in an automatic dryer need little or no ironing.

Social Security Benefits For Husband, Wife Told

By FRANK CORRICK
Copley News Service

Q. In a recent column you gave an example of a husband and wife who were receiving Social Security benefits. The husband was getting $189.50 and the wife was receiving $132.30. In another column you said a wife would get 37 1/2 per cent at age 62 and 50 per cent of her husband's benefit at age 65. I'm confused. Can you explain?

— J.G.K.

A. The wife who receives the $132.30 is getting benefits based on her own work under Social Security. If she hadn't worked, her benefit rate would be based on her husband's amount and would be $71.20 (37 1/2 per cent) at age 62 or $84.50 (50 per cent) at age 65.

Q. My husband is retiring in November, 1971. We are interested in protecting our investments as well as our estate taxes. So, upon our death, will our two married daughters receive the final distribution of our estate as directed by the court? — Mrs. K. J. Jr.

A. Various banks, with trust departments declare that a will is one of the most important documents in your estate plan, and the executor in the trust department is as important as a will.

Therefore, if you haven't an attorney, select one after discussing it with a trust officer of your bank (there is no charge or obligation).

Your attorney will then discuss your various investments such as real estate, stocks and bonds, life insurance, etc. Then, with a will written by your attorney, you are assured that your property will be distributed according to your wishes.

However, whether you leave a will or not, your estate and inheritance taxes must be paid before your estate can be distributed. These taxes are usually the largest expense to your estate but your attorney can show you how your will can minimize them.

If you name your bank as your executor, you can be certain your estate will be settled in a minimum time with minimum reduction by taxes and other costs.

Q. What's the best thing to do when a close friend is having marital problems, or job problems, or other conflicts which he cannot resolve? How can you help? — E.D.

A. Psychologists believe that the best offering of sympathy is silence. Don't try to argue a person out of attitudes or hostilities which seem unreasonable to you.

Don't attempt to pry into the causes of personal problems or try to diagnose emotional ailments. You are more likely to hurt than heal. Don't be over-fusive with your sympathy because it can seldom be expressed effectively in words.

Don't belittle a person's emotional conflicts by telling him or her that you or someone you know has worse ones.

On the positive side, it is most important to be kind, gentle and understanding. You may need a shoulder to cry on yourself some day.

Q. Do I qualify for Social Security even though I am divorced? I was married for 22 years, then divorced. My ex-husband remarried. — L. C. F.

A. You may qualify if, at the time you file, you are age 62, unmarried and receiving either one-half support, substantial contributions under a written agreement or there is in effect a court order for substantial contributions.

Q. I worked under Social Security from the very beginning, always a maximum salary. I retired in August, 1970, and it doesn't seem like I'm getting enough. — S. R.

A. If you were 65 when you retired in August, 1970, your monthly benefit rate would now be $206.80. This rate would be based on maximum earnings in 1970 ($7,900) your rate would now be $214.50.

If you also achieved maximum earnings in 1970 ($7,900) your rate would now be $214.50.

Q. What is the cause of so many automobile accidents and what can a driver do to prevent the most of them? — P. E. H.

A. Fatigue, both at night and in broad daylight, is one of the principal villains. Many a car wraps itself around a telephone pole in the split second that its driver does off.

If you're angry, depressed or just plain emotionally upset, leave the car in the garage and walk. You'll eliminate the danger of driving under emotional strain, and the walk will do you good.

Q. Why are pension plans expanding? — B. A.

A. Pension plans are being expanded to provide retirement income for more people. There were an estimated 45.5 million men and women participating in some type of retirement program, other than Social Security, at the end of 1970. This was an increase of 2.3 million people over the previous year.

The fastest growth occurred through private insured plans administered by life insurance companies, according to the latest figures from the Institute of Life Insurance.

Retirement programs for people in small businesses, professions and farming are growing.

Illinois Power Plans 3rd Baldwin Unit

A third 605,000-kilowatt generating unit will be built at Illinois Power Company's Baldwin Power Plant, bringing the capacity of that generating station to 1,815,000 kilowatts, it was announced by Wendell J. Kelley, IP president.

A year ago, Mr. Kelley announced the construction of the generating unit somewhere on the IP system. Studies have continued over the year and a decision has been reached on the location of the unit at the Baldwin Plant in Randolph County in southwestern Illinois.

Baldwin's first unit of 605,000 kilowatts capacity was put in operation during the summer of 1970. A second unit of like size, to be finished in 1973, is under construction. The third unit is scheduled for service in 1975.

When the third unit is put in operation, Illinois Power Company's generating capacity will reach 3,419,300 kilowatts. IP has steam generating stations at Wood River, Hennepin, Havana and the Vermilion Plant near Danville. Gas turbine units at Stallings, near Granite City, and at Oglethorpe are used for peak production as are small diesel units at Vandalia and Bloomington.

There is also a small internal combustion unit at the Vermilion Power Plant and a hydro-electric station at Marseilles, on the Illinois River, has a capacity of 2,500 kilowatts.

State Offices Trying to 'Level Off' in Hiring

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service

Springfield — Illinois officials are trying to level off the number of persons being hired for state employment.

John Wilbur McCarter Jr., head of the Bureau of the Budget, said, "yes there is a slowdown in hiring."

McCarter told Copley News Service, "we are looking at all departmental help requests." Auditor of Public Accounts Michael J. Howlett keeps tabs on the number of state employees. His latest complete month is for this past April. He runs behind because of the methods used in the state's warrant system.

For April, Howlett reported there were 116,000 employees of all state agencies, a decrease of 222 from March. The number of employees for April, 1971 was 3,811 more than in April, 1970. Of the increase, 1,203 were in the educational institutions, 2,008 for all other state agencies.

Post Financial Corp. Names New Manager

Post Financial Corporation has named a new manager of its regional office and is moving to larger quarters in the new Illinois Central complex in downtown Chicago Sept. 13.

Alan Strauss is the new regional manager for the insurance premium finance firm which was organized in July, 1970, to specialize in premium financing nationwide. All operations will be centered at 111 E. Wacker Drive. Post Financial previously had a regional accounting office in Milwaukee headed by Richard A. Johnson, who has resigned, and an office in Hinsdale.

Strauss, of West Allis, Wis., formerly was in consumer finance as a branch manager for First Credit Corporation, West Bend, Wis. He also has served as manager of Local Loan Corp., Milwaukee.

Post Financial will share its quarters with INRECO, an insurance brokerage firm based in Los Angeles and opening new offices in Chicago. Both firms are subsidiaries of Post Corporation of Appleton, Wis., which has major interests in broadcast, newspaper, commercial printing and communications engineering.

All-Star Insurance Corp. of Milwaukee, a writer of excess surplus lines insurance, and Siskier & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind., reinsurance consultants and intermediaries, also are Post subsidiaries.

Girl's Bobbed Hair Shocks Father

SEPTEMBER 9, 1921

When his 15-year-old daughter returned home with her hair bobbed, a Granite City man seized a revolver and drove her family from the house, police were told. After asking one look at the girl, he told the entire family to prepare for death. He later visited the police station and agreed not to create any further disturbance.

Profile of Vice-President Agnew

AGNEW — PROFILE IN CONFLICT: by Jim G. Lucas; Charles Scribner's Sons; 168 pages; $5.95.

Reviewed by FRANK MACOMBER, Conley News Service

For who know Spiro T. Agnew, have read about him or heard him speak will say the 37th vice-president of the United States is a serene and uncomplaining man.

Pulitzer Prize-winning Jim Lucas makes no such claims, in his enlightening story of Agnew then and now.

But Lucas' reasonably objective account of the vice-president, from his "disastrous" debut into politics in 1960 until he was elected to the second highest office in the land, leaves you with this impression:

If Ted Agnew seems to be a man who attracts conflict and controversy, he has had a lot of help creating that image from the news media and his political foes.

Even so, now that his name is a household word, the vice-president doesn't mind criticism so long as he thinks it's fair, writes Lucas.

At times Agnew appears almost to expect he will continue to be the chief target of those whose political philosophies and actions he so vehemently opposes.

Lucas recalls a recent conversation in which the vice-president said he sees a slowing of the trend to violent confrontation and rioting instead of peaceful protest.

"I think we have arrested the trend," Agnew said. "We've had a more peaceful year. It is time to come to demand self-discipline."

"It is time, if necessary, to risk being unpopular," he said. "The story of Agnew's political career, from the early 1960s as a Baltimore County official who then served as Maryland governor before moving on to the vice-presidency, reflects this attitude."

Agnew, Lucas recalls, often risked a decline in popularity to take the political road he thought was the right one, even though it rubbed some of his friends and followers raw.

After the Baltimore riots in the wake of Martin Luther King's assassination in April, 1968, Gov. Agnew called before the community's Negro leaders and dressed them down for refusing to speak out against the Negro "racists" who triggered the sacking of the city.

Many of these Negroes were friendly or political associates of the governor.

Some walked out in the middle of his speech and, later, Agnew remarked: "Don't you think I knew I was committing political suicide?"

It turned out he was not, for Agnew's conduct during those troublesome times attracted the attention of national leaders and eventually had considerable to do with Richard Nixon's decision to select the Maryland governor as his Republican running mate later that year.

Lucas relates Agnew's running skirmishes with some newsmen, newspapers and the television news media before and after the 1968 campaigns.

As for his role as an administration spokesman and, some say, as the President's hatchet man, Lucas observes:

"Some claim he (Agnew) has spoken for the President—has said things Nixon cannot say in his lashing of the media."

"He has had to take bad news to the nation's governors, disappoint the nation's mayors, confront the black militants, face angry American Indians, and explain failures not of his own."

"Yet, without the man has been a crowd pleaser of the first magnitude. His name has become a household word."

"In fact, an internationally recognizable word."

"It is, some say, part of the Agnew mystique."

"Privately, the vice-president says he 'had no place to go but up."

Jim Lucas, who won the Pulitzer award for his coverage of the Korean War and holds the Presidential Unit Citation as combat correspondent with the U. S. Marines in World War II, has turned from war to politics with a surprising finesse.

When you have read "Agnew — Profile in Conflict," you will know a lot more about what makes the vice-president tick than you probably know now.

Law Opens Apartments in State To Parents of Small Children

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

Parents who have been facing difficulty finding an apartment because landlords or rental agents won't allow children in the building may find they have the law on their side.

The Illinois State Bar Association, which is comprised of 15,000 attorneys in the state, reports that a 62-year-old law provides legal recourse.

According to the law adopted by the Illinois Legislature in 1959, it is illegal "and opposed to public policy" for a landlord or rental agent to refuse to rent an apartment to the parents of small children.

It states that no property owner or his agent may require as a condition of the lease that there be no children under 14 years of age living in the apartment.

And it says neither can anyone be forced to give up an apartment because of children born after moving in.

The law applies to individual landlords and agents as well as to corporations and associations owning or operating the property. Violation of the law carries with it a fine of $50 to $100 for each infraction.

Madison Parents Should Send Children to School While Court Action Is in Progress

The issue of Dunbar Grade School's readiness for the fall semester should not be used to prevent Dunbar youngsters from obtaining the education which will be so important to their prospects for successful, happy lives.

Although some sections of the Madison school clearly were not ready for pupils on opening day, partly due to vandalism, there is no reason for the young to be kept home.

Facilities and teachers are available, and the students themselves are the losers from the boycott. Court action seeking better facilities can proceed unimpeded whether students are in the classes or not.

Each day of instruction the pupils miss will be difficult or impossible for them to make up, and it is pointless for them to remain at home.

Schools and staff members are being provided by Madisonians and Illinoisans at considerable cost. The opportunity for attendance is one that no student should miss—and all Dunbar area parents should see to it that there is no further truancy.

Heavy Death Toll This Year Shows Need For Greater Attention to Traffic Safety

The fatal injury of a 15-year-old boy struck by a hit-and-run vehicle—although occurring on a Saturday evening—points up the increased hazards associated with the resumption of classes at Quad-City area public and parochial schools.

The tragic Labor Day weekend crashes add to the sad toll for the year. With 39 street and highway fatalities so far, 1971 may prove to be the worst year ever for Quad-City area traffic deaths.

The potential for tragedy is apparent on every block. Many youngsters, some very young and others with their minds on things other than traffic safety, throng local pedestrian crosswalks every morning, noon and afternoon.

Each motorist needs to step up his usual degree of vigilance when schools are in operation, especially during the early weeks of the new term. And extreme precaution also needs to be taken during other hours on weekdays, and throughout weekends as well, as the grim statistics bear out.

The life saved from such extra caution may be that of yourself, a loved one, a friend or a loved one's friend.

It's sad but true; we get only one chance to make a good first impression.

Fun Fair an Enjoyable Way to Inaugurate The Yearly Fund Drive for Local Agencies

The United Fund, which means so much to the local community, has been launching in recent years by two-day UF Fun Fairs. This will be the case again in 1971; the fair is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 2, and Sunday, Oct. 3, at the ice skating rink-recreation center in Wilson Park.

The Fun Fair features games, displays, skill competition, gifts, prizes, rides and an opportunity to get better acquainted with the people who guide and operate the agencies holding membership in the United Fund of the Tri-Cities.

It would be hard to find a more enjoyable or worthwhile activity. Ish the Tiger and Raggedy Ann and Andy, symbols of the UF campaign, will be there and so will thousands of others who want the United Fund and our community to succeed. How about you?

Feed your faith; let your doubts starve to death.

versary celebration of the City of Granite City, I publicly thank those individuals and organizations whose efforts made the page possible.

The cast of 100 who, through the magic of costume changes and filling multiple roles, did the work of 500.

The Granite City Park District board for the use of the softball diamond and the tireless efforts of Park Superintendent Harold Brown and his great crew of park employees.

The school board of unit 9 for the use of the new bleachers.

The Illinois Power Co. and Dron Electric for bringing in the electric service necessary to provide all that stage lighting and sound.

The Explorer scout unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital and the group's adviser, Scott Hendrickson, who took a week's vacation to direct the scouts in the hundreds of jobs required at the pageant site.

The Golden Agers and Anchorage Senior Citizens' Club for handling the costumes and the East Bank Players for their casting assistance.

Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, and his crew for the delivery of the Army tent and scaffolding so necessary to the production.

A very special thanks to the men of organized labor who installed the bleachers, constructed and painted the set, and returned to remove the bleachers and "strike" the set after the pageant closed and the fun was over.

To the laborers, carpenters, painters, school and street department employees working under the leadership of Art Griffin of the Laborers and Hodcarriers Union, Ed Hagnauer of the Carpenters Union, Carl Morris of the Painters Union, and the Teamsters Local 525, I offer a very sincere thank you.

The pageant was not only an enjoyable entertainment for an audience of several thousand of our citizens but it was also a demonstration that cooperation between local units of government, organized labor, business and industry and spirited citizens can result in substantial projects of civic improvement in the city.

GC JUBILEE WAS A WEEK NEVER TO BE FORGOTTEN

To the Editor: The week of Aug. 23 will be one that I will never forget. Thanks to the wonderful people in our community who purchased tickets for me, I was very fortunate to be one of the Little Miss Jubilee princesses.

The Little Miss Jubilee Queen, Olivia Schroeder, the three other princesses, Brigitte Kitzinger, Pickett and Ella Reinegal, and I enjoyed a week of activities, prizes, surprises, luncheons, teas, etc., that we'll always remember.

We did many things together and have built, I'm sure, a lasting friendship among ourselves.

Winter Wonderland

By BILL WINTER

Editor, Press-Record

One of our favorites during the week was: "There's no fool like an old fool. You can't beat experience."

A slightly different version of the "Vine News" is issued to employees of the hospital. It includes some of the humorous anecdotes and reports staff meeting schedules and employees' birthdays.

Humor also is used to explain upcoming x-ray tests to individual patients.

The test instructions are printed on colorful paper and are illustrated with characters from the "Peanuts" (Charlie Brown) comic strip.

The drawings are by Alice Daniels, a Coolidge Junior High School student.

One shows Snoopy, the dog, looking a bit miffed as he drinks a mixture useful in tests but not exactly "Peanut butter."

In another section, Snoopy has been told he may resume regular meals and is shown leaping exultantly toward his plate.

Meals are a high point of each day because they serve to break up otherwise interminably long spans of time into more easily managed segments.

And the food, prepared by Hospital Food Management, Inc. is tasty and well as nutritious.

Patients have an opportunity to select their day's menu from the previous day's food provided by the dietitian and chef.

On the back of the menu folder is further information and advice.

One area of the folder stresses that the hospital plays an important part in your recovery.

It urges that the food one selects for the following day be two glasses of milk, two servings of green or yellow vegetables, two servings of citrus fruit or tomato, one serving of meat, fish, cheese or poultry, two servings of cereal and bread, two servings of butter and eggs totaling three to five a week.

Another menu statement relates that St. Elizabeth Hospital, a non-profit, general hospital, has served this community since the early 1900s.

"From 1921 until the present the Sisters of Divine Providence have owned and operated the hospital."

An expansion program is presently going on, with the first stage of construction scheduled to be completed in 1971.

Included in this first stage will be expanded laboratory services, a new and larger radiology department, a modern emergency department, a new physical therapy facilities, an operating suite, a 12-bed obstetrical floor, three 50-bed medical-surgical floors and a 48-bed extended care facility.

There may never be a time when the construction of St. Elizabeth Hospital has been completed.

This is because, as noted, the new wing along Iowa Street is only the first stage of the present expansion program.

And additional expansions are likely to follow the current program as the population grows and as new health care techniques are developed.

The challenge facing St. Elizabeth Hospital is as unending as the hospital's devotion to its objective of the best possible health services for this region.

Thanks to my experience in the past week, I have a deep appreciation of that dedication.

Study Structure Of Mental Health Regions in State

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Administrative procedures in each of the state's seven Department of Mental Health regions are currently being evaluated by task forces made up of members of the Governor's Advisory Council.

There is one task force for each of the seven regions.

Task force members will not consider clinical aspects of the operations but will concern themselves instead with such aspects as organization structure, institutional staffing and personnel administration procedures, accounting systems, budgetary processes and management information systems.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has asked the groups to submit regional findings to his office by next Jan. 1, so the findings can be evaluated and appropriate action taken on recommendations during the coming year.

Previous Studies Cited

Meeting with regional chairman, the governor said similar groups which made in-depth studies of Illinois' correctional institutions had made recommendations which have in many cases already been successfully implemented.

"I'm sure you and your task force members can do the same thing in the field of mental health," the governor told the chairman. "And in so doing, you'll be performing a greatly needed service for your state."

The department of mental health currently has 26 facilities of varying types scattered throughout the state, and five additional modern centers planned for the Chicago metropolitan area.

The department employs 23,000 persons overall.

The seven regions, and the chairmen for each in the six-month study, include Chicago (including the Medical Center Complex), Charles G. Rummel, an architect engineer; Rockford, Thomas M. Andelt, Jr., attorney from Earlville; Peoria, Robert A. Jamieson, savings and loan company president; Decatur - Champaign, James Oughton, banker and restaurant owner, of Dwight.

Springfield, Kent D. Sticker, a banker; Alton-Robinson, S. Charles Pappageorge, petroleum company superintendent, of Robinson; and Anna, Dr. Clyde M. Brooks, retired Cardinale physician.

Regional Report -- Schools, Layoff, Fire, Downtown Mall

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)
Public school districts in this area opened their doors to students despite continued heavy wage hikes and, in some districts, continuing contract negotiations between teachers and boards of education.

In St. Clair County, Belleville schools opened on scheduled time. Teachers in Cahokia School District 187 reported for classes without a contract. In the largest district in St. Clair, East St. Louis School District 189 teachers have not signed a contract but agreed to report on time.

In Madison County, schools in Granite City, Edwardsville and Collinsville began classes. In Collinsville, where the new Collinsville High School complex opened its doors for the first time to nearly 1,400 juniors and seniors, teachers belonging to the Collinsville Education Association reported without a contract.

Monroe County school districts reported no problems in contract talks between teachers and school boards and all schools opened on schedule. More than 100 supervisory personnel of Granite City Steel Co. have been laid off as a result of a lessened demand for steel and a breakdown in one of the 35,000 tons of furnaces. According to a company spokesman, a few of the 400 workers affected were dismissed. But most will be rehired when the market improves, probably in December.

Controlling interest in the Bank of Mascoutah has been purchased by a group of Illinois investors. Charles Daily has been elected the new chairman of the board. In addition, two other new directors, Dr. Max Goldenberg and James McRoberts Sr., plus two advisory members, Benjamin J. Ahrens and Norman Backus, joined the board of directors. Controlling interest previously was held by a Colorado group.

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the bulk storage warehouse of the Tri-City Regional Port on the Granite City riverfront. Bulk Service Corp., owner and operator of the warehouse, estimated the loss at $1,750,000. Firemen, unable to save the building, concentrated on keeping the fire from spreading along conveyor belts and to the dock area. It was unknown how long it took the 35,000 tons of fire-resistant fertilizer, stored inside the building, would be salvageable. Carl Rant, manager of the Port District, said the barges scheduled to load and unload at the port would be rerouted to other ports.

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. announced plans to make Collinsville an "area switching center" for the 818 area code region. Jack Suter, manager, said the new building will be located on land west of the present building on West Clay Street.

The Little Theatre of Alton, believed to be the oldest non-professional group of this type in St. Louis metropolitan area, is building a $78,000 addition to its present theater on Henry Street. The new structure, designed for in-the-round productions, will have seating capacity for 270 persons.

The present building will be used as a new foyer, ticket booth and dining area. The addition, which should be finished by the start of the season in November, will be partially financed by a building block campaign. The Little Theatre will offer the 4,703 concrete blocks contained in the structure for sale at $10 each. Bids are held for a total subscription of $47,030.

In general area news, plans for a proposed downtown Granite City mall and redevelopment program are near the financing stage, with construction expected to start by early next spring.

St. Clair County's Board of Supervisors denied the controversial petition for rezoning 600 acres in Smithtown Township to permit a huge landfill and industrial waste disposal site.

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Belleville expects to take bids in mid-October on an $11 million improvement program that will include a new service center and 68 additional beds.

Illinois Power Co. will build a 600,000-kilowatt generating unit at its Baldwin Power Plant in Randolph County, and work has begun on a 260-unit heating complex between Missouri Avenue and Broadway, 10th and 13th Streets in East St. Louis.

Woman Hoping to Run For State Comptroller

By JERRY OWENS
Copley News Service

Springfield — Mrs. Josephine Oblinger of Sherman has confirmed that she is interested in running for state comptroller in 1972 on the Republican ticket.

An attorney and former two-term county clerk of Sangamon County, Mrs. Oblinger is a subcommittee official in Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's administration. She is executive director of the Governor's Committee on Voluntary Action.

She also has been a teacher, labor negotiator and elected member of the Sangamon County Board of Supervisors.

"I'm thinking of it," Mrs. Oblinger replied when asked if she plans to run for comptroller next year. The new Illinois Constitution changes the office of state auditor somewhat and gives it the new name of "comptroller."

When asked if she has talked to party leaders, including Ogilvie, about her possible candidacy, she said: "Not yet." But she said that "after Labor Day" she will discuss it with Ogilvie, Atty. Gen. William Scott, U.S. Sen. Charles Percy, State Republican Chairman Victor Smith, GOP County Chairman Richard Northern and others.

A number of women within the Republican organization have contacted her about running because they would like to see more women seek office at all levels of government, Mrs. Oblinger said.

She has proven her voting ability in Sangamon County, having twice been elected to the County Board and twice as county clerk. She has been active in the "Grand Old Party" for many years, as has her husband, Attorney Walter Oblinger.

In 1968, Mrs. Oblinger almost became a candidate for clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court. However, she refused to announce while her friend, the late Clerk Fae Searcy, was gravely ill.

Republican Justin Taft of Rochester took the ball away from Mrs. Oblinger by announcing for the office as "insurance" against a non-organization primary challenge in the event Mrs. Searcy could not make the race.

Searcy and Taft went on to win the nomination and the general election.

Pontoon Plans Drive Against Derelict Cars

Pontoon Beach police announced today that a drive to rid the village of derelict motor vehicles will begin Monday.

Derelict and junk cars will be towed from streets under a village ordinance and from yards under a public nuisance ordinance.

Ten day notices first will be issued to owners before the autos are towed. They will be held for 30 days and then sold to the highest bidder, police said, adding that the fine for violation is $25.

2 Trained as Female Correctional Officers

Celia Motyka and Donelda F. Maeras of the Madison County jail staff have completed a three-day seminar for female correctional officers conducted by the Bureau of Detention Standards and Services of the Illinois Department of Corrections.

The seminar, held in Pontiac, Ill., is the second training session for female correctional officers held by the bureau this year.

Subjects covered included health and safety services, social services in jails, legal aspects of jail administration, security and discipline, procedures for receiving and discharging prisoners, the role of the female correctional officer in the socialization of the inmate, understanding inmates with special problems, drug addiction and suicide, library services in jails, and a day spent at the Illinois Women's Reformatory at Dwight. Anthony S. Kuharik, chief of the bureau, directed the seminar.

Jay Bryant of Springfield and Mrs. Margaret Holloway, administrative assistant in the Chicago office of the department of mental health.

Cities Can Take Advantage of the State's Vast Purchasing Power to Obtain Bargains

By GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Springfield, Ill. — Paying fat prices for supplies is one of the classic abuses of corrupt politicians.

The "fat," of course, leaves room for payoffs and kickbacks.

In the past years, prices to certain governmental units were expected to be kicked up 10 per cent to allow for the kickbacks.

And even when no corruption was involved, there was often a lack of incentive to look for bargains and to fight for the lowest price.

Illinois municipalities and state government itself have taken great strides during the past two years to become as good shoppers as the most careful housewife.

Although little heralded, the state's joint purchasing program has produced dramatic savings for Illinois cities.

And in doing so, the cities have abated the heavy pressure on local tax sources—which ought to be good news anywhere.

The program is simple: Towns wanting to take advantage of the tremendous purchasing power of the state enter their needs with the Department of General Services.

At no service cost whatsoever, the division arranges the purchase and delivery to the cooperating city.

In Park Forest, officials reported, the village was paying $13.20 a ton for salt to spread on the streets.

Through the state program, the cost was cut to $5.49.

"You can be sure," wrote the assistant to the village manager, Robert A. Bleszard, "if we will expand our cooperative purchasing program with the state, particularly if bargains like this result."

From another village came the report that the price dropped from $14.85 to $10.65 merely on word that the village was thinking of switching to the joint purchasing plan.

City Manager Donald D. Crawford of DeKalb reported in the Illinois Municipal Review that the town saved more than $1,000 per vehicle by ordering new police cars through the state, under a system now unfortunately discontinued.

If your town or village hasn't found some of the bargains available, now's a good time for officials to take a good look about to participate.

They should write Thomas B. Blanco, state purchasing agent, 801 State Office Bldg., Springfield, Ill. 62768.

Blanco, a career professional in his field, lists some other bargains that ought to excite the envy of most Illinois families.

Top-line tires which sell for $25 retail are available to government units at $17.79. A common light bulb retailing at 9c is available for 15c.

Standard-brand spark plugs, carrying a $1.05 retail price tag, can be bought for slightly more than 50c each.

These are just some examples of the good housekeeping Blanco's division is practicing in Springfield.

One other development, also little noted, promises huge savings to state government.

Formerly each elected official ran his own purchasing program as if his office were an independent government.

The funds—all came from the same source—the taxpayers—and yet there was a minimum of cooperation between offices.

This wasteful practice has been stopped.

Effective last month, all state purchases except those for universities will be handled by General Services under a bill which was supported in the General Assembly by all present state officials.

Blanco estimates that a base savings of 20% is possible. I don't think it unreasonable to project savings to the taxpayers of several million dollars a year.

The significance of this reform is not merely one of dollars and cents.

I think it reflects a growing realization that taxpayers are sick and tired of wasteful and corrupt practices.

There should not be one ounce of "fat" in government purchases.

And Blanco and Director Frank Resnik have the greatest opportunity ever to use their skills to save money for all of us.

K.C. Shrine Benefit Sunday at Cahokia

The fifth annual benefit chicken fry and barbecue sponsored jointly by the Cahokia Council of Knights of Columbus and Ainald Shrine will be held at the Holy Family Center in Cahokia, Sunday, from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

All proceeds will be used for the Shrine's Burns Institute transportation fund and the Knights of Columbus fund for handicapped children.

Performing during the day will be Ainald's Shrine national championship drum and bugle corps, Ainald's Nobleman stage band, Ainald's Oriental band, Krazy Klowns, Rolling Nobles, Provost Guard, Comets and Arab Patrol.

Donations will be $2 for adult plates and $1 for children under 12.

A colored television set will be awarded a special prize during the day-long event.

Band Parents Meet Set

Madison Band Parents will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Home Economics room of the Madison Junior High School.

William Ledbetter, band director, urged all parents of band members to attend to discuss plans for band activities during the new season.

Steel from Japan Tops 10 Million Tons in 7 Months

WASHINGTON—During July, the last full month before the present import surcharge went into effect, foreign steel was still entering the United States at a record pace.

According to government data supplied the American Iron and Steel Institute, 1,688,000 tons of imported steel landed at U. S. ports during the month—despite a dockworkers' strike which shut down all major harbors on the Pacific Coast.

July's figure pushed total steel imports through the first seven months of 1971 to 10,744,000 tons. Not only is this 4,163,000 tons more than arrived during the comparable period of last year—it also tops by over 1,000,000 tons the seven-month total for 1968, a year which ultimately saw a record 17,800,000 tons of steel imports.

The pre-duty declared value of January-July 1971 imported steel was $1,353,000,000. This compares with a declared value of $1,367,000,000 for all the foreign steel brought into the U.S. during the full 12 months of 1970.

Since Aug. 15, importers have had to pay a special surcharge on their merchandise, over and above the regular duty. The full 10% rate applies to about two-thirds of all steel imports.

Under the current voluntary arrangement by which Japanese and European producers have pledged to control their exports to this market, United States imports of steel are supposed to total no more than 15,435,000 tons during 1971.

This means that, if the foreign steelmakers are to keep their own agreement, they would have to hold total steel exports to the U. S. to less than 4,700,000 tons—or under a million tons a month—for the rest of the year.

New Legislation to Affect Teacher Retirement Plans

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service
Springfield—Some 10,000 Illinois school teachers will be affected by new legislation which will permit teachers with 20 years or more of service to retire, at full pension, when they reach 55.

Figures for the current school year are still being gathered, but there are approximately 77,000 full time classroom teachers in elementary and secondary classrooms in the state, not including those in Chicago, or part-time and special education teachers.

G. Leighton Wasem, of the research department in the office of Public Instruction Superintendent Michael Bakalis, said there are approximately 8,500 full-time elementary teachers of an approximate 51,500 outside Chicago, who are over 55, a figure which represents about 15% of the elementary teachers.

At the secondary level, a little less than half the teachers are over 55, with 1943 full time secondary classroom teachers of an average age of 25,500, outside Chicago, 55 years old or more.

Previously, teachers with 20 years or more experience could retire before age 60, but pension payments were reduced one-half of 1% for each month they were under 60 years.

Benefits Changed
The change in pension benefits was covered in a bill recently signed into law by Gov. Richard Ogilvie.

While figures for teacher numbers in the current year are not yet available, the total is expected to be fairly consistent with the last year's number, for the first time since the end of world war II. In previous years, teacher numbers, as well as student enrollment numbers, have gone up steadily as the world war II "baby boom" youngsters reached school age. In addition, for a number of years, various federally-funded special education courses were added in school systems, calling for additional teachers.

This year, it appears the student enrollment figures are leveling off, while financial difficulties facing many school districts will limit amounts available for teacher salaries.

Chicago school teachers are not included in any of the totals recorded here, Wasem said, since the Chicago public school system has its own certification program and its own retirement plan.

Forms Being Prepared As Bingo Date Nears

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service
Springfield—Local officials have raised several questions concerning the new bingo law which becomes effective Oct. 1, including the $300 license fee.

The state license fee is $200 per year, which goes into the General Revenue Fund. Bingo licenses are for a single, specified day each week. Persons and corporations selling bingo supplies are also required to pay the $200 application fee. The $300 state license fee must be paid no matter if the game is to be played in a city, town, village, township, county or unincorporated section of a county. Whether or not a local government can apply an additional fee would depend upon the various powers granted that government by the legislature.

Most of these powers are contained in various legislative proposals dealing with home rule for local government as outlined by the new constitution. These proposals are still in the General Assembly. For the most part, state officials feel a ruling will have to be received from the Attorney General's office in regard to local license fees.

Individual county clerks will handle the requests for license applications. However, Cook County's requests will be handled by the Revenue Department. Mrs. Jeannette Mullen, coordinator of bingo in the Revenue Department, says applications for the licenses are now being Oct. 1. As soon as they are available, they will be distributed to county clerks.

Requests Exceed 1,000
Mrs. Mullen told Copley News Service, "We have received over 1,000 requests for applications. She said she was hopeful that applications could be expedited as soon as they are received, after becoming available to local officials.

Applicants must be non-profit religious, charitable, labor, fraternal, educational or veterans' organizations which have been organized for five years. The Department of Revenue will receive 10% of the gross profits of the games. The money collected will be divided equally between the Mental Health and Common School Funds.

The law restricts the value of prizes to no more than $500 per game, or $2,500 in any single day. The number of games played is limited to 25 a day. The price of the bingo card is limited to $1, and all net proceeds must go to the lawful purpose of the sponsoring organizations.

The law also bars persons who have been convicted of a felony, professional gamblers or persons judged not to be of good moral character from playing or conducting bingo games.

Young GOP to Meet
The Madison County Young Republican Club will meet Thursday, Sept. 16, in the Fleming Pit Restaurant at Edwardsville at 8 p.m. Dave O'Neal, sheriff of St. Clair County, will be the speaker. The meeting will be open to the public.

Dr. Billy Walker Speaker At 2-Day Baptist Meet

Dr. Billy Walker, evangelist for the Walnut Ridge Southern Baptist College, Walnut Ridge, Ark., will be the speaker Friday night, Sept. 17, at 7 p.m. at an evangelistic rally at the Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave.

The rally will be held as part of the program planned for the two-day Madison County Baptist Association's 27th annual session. The first session will open Thursday, Sept. 16, at 9:30 a.m.

Rev. Ralph Dollar, pastor of Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church, Collinsville, will serve as moderator with Rev. B. E. Dugan as host pastor.

The Association's Church, composed of voices from ages 15 and older, will present music complimentary to Christian evangelism, during the Friday night services. Rev. David T. Richardson, associate pastor of Third Baptist Church, will direct the choir.

The Madison County Baptist Association began in 1945. It developed from the overgrown East St. Louis Baptist Association and was formed for the churches in and around Granite City, Collinsville and Alton areas. By 1959 it had grown to 36 member churches and the cliff; Rudolph Diak Jr., 2126 Clark; Carl Allison, 314 Emily Dr., Collinsville; Joseph Daugherty, Godfrey; Wesley Thompson, 3008 Myrtle; Kathleen Wilson, 2105 Glen Dr.; Virginia Teeter, 2034 Milan, Madison; Maria Caris, 4411 Grand; Kathy Hartman, Rural Route Two; Gloria Kasproovich, 2708 Harvey Pl.; Cheryl Bolton, 2804 Idaho; Jaunita Modrusick, 2921 E. 27th St.; Robert Smith, 4305 Kirkpatrick.

Dr. BILLY WALKER
Alton Industrial Association was formed.

All three of these associations have continued to grow and Madison County Baptist Association today has 10,000 members in 24 churches with two missions.

The overall ministry of the Association involves work in jails, nursing homes, rescue missions and other institutional, child care and delinquency projects.

McDonald at Graduate Banking School Session

John L. McDonald Jr., cashier of the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, was among 1,400 bankers from 41 states and several foreign nations who completed the annual two-week residence session of the 27th annual Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin this month.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference, consisting of the banker associations of 16 midwestern states, requires attendance for two weeks a year for three years for graduation. A total of 438 seniors received their diplomas at the school's 1971 graduation exercises.

Attendance enabled the 1,400 not only to meet bankers from all over the country but also to hear authorities on banking, economics, government, law, industrial, agricultural and financial matters.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TOPIC TO CONSIDER MOTIVES

How important are motives and standpoints to individual progress? This is a question to be considered Sunday at Christian Science church services in a lesson-sermon entitled "Substance."

Selections to be read from the Bible include the following: "Do ye look on things after the outward appearance. . . . But he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. For not he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth."

Services are held at First Church of Christ, Scientist at 2560 Delmar Ave., at 10:45 a.m. Sunday.

DANNENBERG RECEIVES MASTER'S DEGREE

Emmers H. Dannenberg, a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dannenberg, 2952 Madison Ave., has received a master's degree in science, education administration and supervision at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

A graduate of the Granite City High School, he received a B.S. degree at Valparaiso University in Indiana in 1968. He is presently employed by the school district in Sheridan, Ill., as a teacher and principal.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS L. FENTON. Their wedding was an event of Sept. 3 at First United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Deborah Lieurance, Dennis Fenton Are Wed

The wedding of Miss Deborah Lynn Lieurance, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Lieurance, 2729 Sunset Drive, and Dennis L. Fenton, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fenton, 2416 Grand Ave., took place Sept. 3 at First United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Dr. David B. Maxton officiated at the 7 o'clock service before the altar simply decorated with white flowers. A gown of pure white organza was worn by the bride. The Empire bodice had a high neck and long Juliet sleeves trimmed with lace. Motifs of lace were placed on the skirt and the full sweep train, which fell from the waist, was banded with lace. The bride's modesty veil was attached to a white satin bow which complemented the bow at the waist. She carried a round nosegay of white flowers. Miss Betty Hogan was maid of honor and Mrs. Dale Jellen served as bridesmaid. Miss Hogan was in a lavender crepe gown with a high waist and a rounded neckline. A bow of violet velvet at the waistline flowed to the floor, and velvet trimmed the full gathered sleeves. Her headpiece was of purple satin. The colors were reversed in the gown and trim of the bridesmaid. The attendants carried carnations in multicolored blue and lavender and arranged in star holders.

Mr. Fenton was attended by his cousins, Danny Mount, best man, and Roger Fenton, groomsmen. Robert Lieurance and Danny Lieurance, a brother and cousin of the bride, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lieurance wore a powder blue polyester dress with rhinestone trim, while the bridegroom's mother chose a pink dress with a rhinestone-trimmed jacket. Both wore matching accessories.

A reception was held at the American Legion Home directly after the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Lieurance presided over the guest book.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Missouri before leaving for Southern California where the bridegroom, a third class petty officer in the U. S. Navy and a radar technician, is stationed aboard the USS Jouett. He was formerly employed as an assistant manager in a shoe store in East St. Louis.

Both young people are 1968 graduates of the Granite City High School, and the bride, a senior at SIU-SW, is taking a leave of absence to be with her husband.

The rehearsal dinner was given on Thursday evening by the bridegroom's parents at the Grand Cafe.

MISSION GUILD TO MEET

Dodge brings you four great money-saving ways to

Catch Colt
For a little car, it's a lot of car.

DODGE COLT TWO-DOOR HARDTOP

Many people think this sporty Colt hardtop is our best-looking number. And like all Colts offered, it's loaded with a long list of standard features people really dig. Such things as front disc brakes . . . adjustable steering column . . . and flow-through ventilation—cool, man.

DODGE COLT TWO-DOOR COUPE

You are now looking at Colt's lowest priced model. The Colt two-door coupe. Even with its mini price, you get the max list of standard goodies—everything mentioned on this page, including an overhead cam Hemi engine that delivers up to 30 miles per gallon.

DODGE COLT FOUR-DOOR SEDAN

This is the one to choose if you're looking for lots of room. More standard features? You want more standard features? How about a radio antenna built right into the trunk lid? Or four headlights? Or variable ratio steering? Or a fully synchronized four-speed gear box?

DODGE COLT STATION WAGON

Our wagon comes with all the great standard items you have read about on this page except the trunk lid antenna. In addition, you can also get extra-cost options such as air conditioning, automatic transmission and radio on all models. See your Dodge Colt Dealer now!

Morris Library Loans Materials To Far Places

Checking out books to 23,000 resident students is not the only function the Morris Library at Southern Illinois University performs — it also serves scholars around the globe.

During the last fiscal year, for example, it has filled nearly 10,000 requests for loan materials — books, photocopies or microfilm—to be used by scholars in Cuba, Rhodesia and Canada, among other distant points.

These requests — 24,347 of them during fiscal 1970-71 — are funneled through an operation called Interlibrary Loans, headed by Harold Rath. Each request must come through another university or public library or a special library, SIU-Carbondale filled 9,808 of last year's requests, Rath said.

SIU is one of four research and reference library centers in Illinois (the others are the University of Illinois, the Illinois State Library and the Chicago Public Library), which, form a network connected by teletype. Of last year's requests, 15,444 were channeled from one or the other of these centers. But 3,948 came from other university and special libraries, coast to coast, Hawaii and Alaska, and even from London and Switzerland.

In return, to fill the needs of its own students, the Morris Library sent out 5,312 queries to other libraries for materials not in its own collections, Rath said.

An unusual request Rath recalled came from a Northern Illinois system library for a book by Ira Ferguson, entitled "Dig Graves by Night to Attend College by Day."

One of the most frequently requested items, he said, is a 1967 SIU master's thesis in home economics — "Relationships Between Certain Personality Traits and Clothing Preferences," by Bonnie Marie Eaglin. Another SIU home economics thesis, "A Study of Buying Habits of Low Income Homemakers in Montgomery, Ala., with Suggestions for Improvement," by Shirley Crawford (1968), is runner-up.

Covered Bridges in State Becoming Rare

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Once upon a time, they were common charms on country roads and remote backwoods areas in Illinois, providing dim, dusty and echoing passage over the rivers, streams and sloughs.

Today, the covered bridges, favorites alike of landscape painters and lovers, are becoming as rare as the old gray mare in Illinois.

Where once there may have been as many as 200 of the red, white or natural wood structures in Sangamon County alone, there are now only eight left in the entire state.

Sadly, the historic relics which outlasted decades of use, snow, heat and flood are facing the biggest threat from modern vandals.

Until a couple of years ago, there were nine covered bridges left in the state. Then the solid walnut Hancock County bridge, longest in the state, was destroyed by fire, apparently set by an arsonist. The 160-foot structure, which spanned a slough of the Mississippi River near Hamilton, will not be rebuilt.

As they vanish, none of the old bridges will be replaced, according to spokesmen for the state highway division, which since 1963 has had custody of the remaining covered bridges in Illinois.

There are varying opinions about the origin of the covered bridge. Common in New England, the spans were once called "Yankee" bridges in the Midwest.

The world's oldest covered bridge is believed to be at Lucerne, Switzerland, built in 1333.

Some people say they were built with sides to prevent built like old-time western frontier stores with big square false fronts at each end, which were used like early billboards.

Many bore painted notices of the maximum number of cattle which could cross at one time, and threatened fines for horsemen who rode or drove across at faster than a walk.

When the state highway division took over the remaining bridges in 1963, many were about to lose out in their long fight against time.

Renovating and strengthening them cost the state $90,000 the last time. But since then, the relics of the rural roads cost only about $500 a year for routine maintenance, painting and repair.

Built to last of whatever

would think they were barns, and enter willingly.

Actually, it appears they were built with rail and ties for the rather obvious purpose of protecting the bridge span from the elements. If they looked like barns frequently, it wasn't surprising, since they were often built by area barn builders.

In fact, at least one old covered bridge in the state, which no longer spans any stream, was years ago converted into a barn.

Once upon a time, when they were a common sight on back roads — and more heavily traveled routes as well — they presented a wide diversity of styles.

Mike Nash, a highway division employee who has made a hobby of the scenic old structures, said there once were double portal covered bridges in Illinois, with separate covered traffic lanes for each direction.

Others had catwalks along the outside for pedestrians.

Some were made with combination wooden and iron spans, and some were built like old-time western frontier stores with big square false fronts at each end, which were used like early billboards.

Built to last of whatever timber was plentiful nearby, the old bridges were frequently made of oak, walnut or white oak, usually on stone abutments.

They were even moved, from time to time, as traffic patterns changed, hauled along the dirt roads to a new location, perhaps on another stream.

Presently, not all the remaining eight carry vehicle traffic. Some are in roadside rest spots or picnic areas, carrying no traffic except visitors on foot who want a short walk into nostalgia and back.

Those which do carry auto traffic are on county gravel roads, and are posted for three-ton to five-ton load limits.

Apparently the oldest covered span left in Illinois is the Mary's River Bridge near Chester, built in 1844, while the S w a C Reed Bridge near Greenbush in Warren County is "practically new," only erected in 1899.

The others are located at or near Princeton on Ill. Rt. 6; Douglas, on Ill. Rt. 8; Quakwa, on Ill. 16; Springfield, on Ill. 125; Glenarm, on U. S. 66, and Cowden, on Ill. Rt. 66.

Army Aviation Systems Staff Saves Big Sums

Ninety individuals, teams and organizational units at the Army Aviation Systems Command, St. Louis, will receive awards at 10 a.m. Friday for combined efforts which saved more than $88 million in the 1970-71 fiscal year ended June 30.

Maj. Gen. Fred Kornet Jr., commanding general, will present the awards in a ceremony in the second floor auditorium of the Federal (Marty) Building, 12th and Spruce Streets.

The awards will recognize those whose achievements during the year have most improved operating effectiveness within the command or whose ideas have substantially reduced government costs.

Efforts of one team alone save approximately $2 million. One of the largest single savings made was by Raymond V. Daggett Jr., whose development of an Army depot rotor blade inspection and repair program resulted in a cost savings of $789,000.

Grassroots Politicking Just Around Corner

Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — Now that it appears that the Illinois legislative reapportionment matters have been settled, grassroots politicking is expected to pick up.

The incumbent House and Senate members that received new areas in their districts are already busy making acquaintances. They are also busy making themselves known to the voters and the political leaders of their respective political parties.

It won't be long before it is time for the candidates wanting to run for the legislative offices to begin passing nominating petitions.

This will have to be done toward the end of the year, assuming that there are no last minute changes in the legislature of the March primary election date.

With the coming of the fall session of the General Assembly

many discussions among the members will center around legislative reapportionment and who is and who isn't going to run for re-election. At least one senator, Sen. John G. Gilbert, (R-Carbondale) who has won the respect of members of both parties on matters dealing with education has already said he was stepping down. When the Republicans were in control of the Senate, Gilbert was chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

However, at the present time there have been no indication that any of the current leaders of the Republicans or Democrats in either the House or Senate, are contemplating not running or possibly running for a seat in one of the other houses.

Political talking is expected to be "hot and heavy" when the lawmakers return for the fall session. The session will open on Oct. 5, but on that day no business will be transacted. The General Assembly will recess and then the legislators will come back on Oct. 12.

But one thing will be certain, most of the legislators will be watching their moves in this fall session, since many realize the voters are not apt to forget for the March primary.

The legislature still has taken no definite action on congressional reapportionment.

Whether or not the legislature can get around constitutional barriers and get the state's 24 congressional districts reapportioned has not been completely settled.

At any rate—from here on out the local voters will start being bombarded with politics.
